SCRAP HARVEST NETS 211 TONS; ASK FOR MORE

Adams countians are responding generously in the current drive for scrap with 211 tons of scrap metal and rubber in the first two days of the campaign but O. H. Benson, chairman of the Adams County Salvage Committee, says Uncle Sam is appealing to him for "more and more and more scrap."

On Tuesday, the first day of the drive, 118 tons of scrap metal and 16 tons of scrap rubber were turned in by Adams countians, Mr. Benson reported. On Wednesday the total showed 68 tons of metal and 9 tons of rubber, a grand total of 211 tons. "While this is a splendid showing and we are grateful for the fine cooperation from our countians there is considerably more scrap metal and rubber as yet unaccounted for within the boundary of Adams county," Chairman Benson said.

Want Every Bit

"We would like to gather every bit of it in this drive because the nation is desperately in need of it to keep our mills running. An idle mill cannot turn out the implements of war so essential to an Allied Nations' victory. If we fail to furnish the necessary scrap metal many mills will have to close. That's the situation today," said Mr. Benson.

An appeal is being made to all residents to scour their homes for old keys. It is estimated that there are more than one billion keys "hanging around" the country. These represent keys that are no longer used, discarded for new keys or new locks. The government would like to have the metal in those keys.

Report Violations

Reports have been received from various sections of the county that some junk dealers refuse to weigh scrap metal before they purchase it. It is reported that some dealers "estimate" the tonnage or poundage and pay "by guess and by gosh."

Countians are urged to report such violations of the law to the County Chairman who will in turn report to the proper authorities. Dealers must pay the standard price and must pay by weight. If they refuse to do so they will be prosecuted, Mr. Benson said.

William A. Kemper Dies On Thursday

William A. Kemper, 64, who formerly lived in Hunterstown where he worked as a chairmaker, died Thursday evening at 10:30 o'clock at the home of his sister, Mrs. Pius Miller, New Oxford R. 1, in Berwick township.

Mr. Kemper was a son of the late Jacob Franklin and Hannah Little Kemper. The only survivor is Mrs. Miller.

Funeral services Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock in the Hunterstown Methodist church where the body will be taken at 2 o'clock. The Rev. Earl N. Rowe, pastor, will officiate. Interment in the church cemetery.

Weimers Observe Golden Anniversary

The Rev. and Mrs. D. S. Weimer, Gettysburg, observed their golden wedding anniversary last Monday at the home of their daughter, Mrs. Ralph E. Michener, Harrisburg. A number of guests attended the "at home."

The Rev. Mr. Weimer was ordained at the Lutheran Theological seminary on May 17, 1906.

The couple have five children. They are: Mrs. Bernard Baker and Mrs. Michener, both of Harrisburg; Parson H. Weimer, York; Del R. Weimer and Joseph M. Weimer, both of Gettysburg.

4 HAVE SCARLET FEVER

The county's fourth case of scarlet fever was placed under quarantine on Wednesday afternoon by William I. Shields, county health officer, at the home of H. E. Duncan, Littlestown R. 2, in Union township. The patient is Julia Pauley, a Littlestown high school pupil.

Concert—United Brethren Church, Gettysburg, Sunday evening, 7:45.

New Nurse

Miss Geraldine Francis, daughter of Mrs. Paul Kobil, Fairfield, who graduated from the nurses' training school of the Harrisburg hospital Thursday evening. Miss Francis was a member of the class of 35 student nurses. She will continue on general duty at the hospital. The graduation exercises were held in the Forum.

GIVES POINTERS ON PROPER CARE OF VEGETABLES

Victory gardeners in Adams county will be interested in information given today by County Farm Agent M. T. Hartman on the best means of storing vegetables for winter use together with timely tips on fall garden care that will lead to better gardens next year.

"Vegetables stored properly will have practically the same food value as those taken directly from the garden," Mr. Hartman said. He warned however that if vegetables are stored too long they will lose some of their vitamin content. Properly stored vegetables may be used raw or cooked in much the same way as during the summer months when they went directly from the garden to the dinner table, he added.

Green Tomatoes

Green tomatoes and peppers that will not ripen on the vines this fall, although they have reached mature size, should be gathered and placed in single layers on shelves in a cool, partially darkened, medium moist place. They should keep from two to four weeks or longer. An unheated cellar or outbuilding is a good place. Increasing the temperature and light will hasten ripening.

Mr. Hartman had the following to say about the handling and storing of onions, pumpkins and squashes: (Please Turn to Page 7)

Trucks Will Collect Scrap Saturday If Placed At Curb

Signalled by the shriek of the fire siren and the clang of bells on cruising fire engines on the streets of Gettysburg, the collection of scrap metals, rubber and other salvage in Gettysburg will be launched at 8 o'clock Saturday morning.

When the fire siren sounds and the fire trucks clang through the town, a fleet of four trucks, volunteered by Gettysburg and Adams county firms and manned by volunteers, will begin a systematic street-to-street collection of salvage materials for the war effort.

Each truck will be manned by a driver, two Boy Scouts and an additional helper who will gather the "Scrap Harvest" from in front of homes and business places in town.

Householders and business places are asked to place their scrap in front of their residences or business places. Collections at the official salvage depots throughout the business section also will be loaded.

The donated scrap will be sold and the proceeds will be divided between the American Red Cross and the U.S.O. It was previously announced that the Boy Scouts also would share. The scouts are helping with the scrap drive but have decided to let the two war-connected services receive the entire proceeds.

STOCKMEN HERE BUYING SHARES IN REGION COOP.

Adams county livestock growers already have subscribed about $1,900 in common and preferred stock of the new Producers' Livestock Cooperative being organized throughout 10 southeastern Pennsylvania counties and bordering sections of Maryland. It was disclosed at the organization meeting of the Cooperative's board of directors at Lancaster on Wednesday evening.

Organizers assigned a block of $2,500 of the stock of the new cooperative organization to be sold in Adams county. Reports given at Lancaster indicated the farmers of the county will subscribe the full amount as farmers in some of the other counties in the area already have done.

A. B. C. Williams, York Springs farmer and stockman who has been named as Adams county's representative on the board of directors, attended Wednesday's meeting at Lancaster and participated in the election of the permanent officers.

Nolt Is President

Harrison Nolt, Columbia R. 1, speaker at a livestock producers' meeting held here in the court house more than a month ago, was elected president and Roman Smeyers, York R. D., vice president. A. R. Schaeffer, Lancaster R. 2, was named treasurer and Charles Warner, a Montgomery county farmer, was made secretary. Fifth member of the executive committee is Mark Kreider, Lebanon county.

Nine of the 12 directors of the cooperative attended the meeting and heard reports on progress being made with the membership campaign. Initial capitalization for the cooperative has been set at $35,000. Operations will not be begun until $30,000 of the stock issue has been bought.

The directors on Wednesday set October 15 as the date by which the stock sales are to be completed. The directors will hold their next meeting in Lancaster on that date.

4-H Club Buys Stock

It was announced today that members of the 4-H baby beef club at York Springs have bought a share of common stock as a club investment in the cooperative organization.

The cooperative's purpose, it was explained here recently, is to provide livestock producers with an organization of their own through which they may buy and market feeder cattle, sheep, calves and hogs strictly on established market grades. The transactions will be handled by the Cooperative's own agents in this and similar livestock producers' cooperatives throughout the United States.

Jap Brass

New York, Sept. 18 (AP)—For 35 years (until Pearl Harbor) James J. (Jimmy) Hare, 36-year-old news photographer and correspondent in five wars, cherished a medal he received from the emperor of Japan.

It was about the size of a half dollar, but three times as thick, and Hare said he "banked on that piece of gold to pull me through a tight spot."

He presented it on Wednesday to the Overseas Press club, asking that it be recast and presented to the first American flier to bomb the imperial palace in Tokyo.

It was taken to a jeweler to be assayed.

"100 per cent brass," read his report. "Low quality."

Commented Hare: "It took me 35 years to discover that the medal, like everything else Japanese, was phony."

RATION BOARD NO. 1 ISSUES TIRE PERMITS

Five new passenger tires of top grade and four second grade tires for cars are included in lists just announced by War Price and Rationing Board No. 1 at New Oxford in which permits for 32 passenger car recaps, 33 truck recaps, seven obsolete tires, 29 new tires for trucks, two new tires for pieces of farming equipment and 47 new inner tubes are listed.

The board also has issued permits for the purchase of three new bicycles. They go to Robert M. Stevens, New Oxford; George Matland, Littlestown, and M. E. Hoffman, Gettysburg R. 5.

The new tires for passenger cars go to Dr. William E. Flickinger, York Springs physician; A. B. C. Williams, York Springs rural mail carrier; Dr. L. L. Potter, Littlestown physician, and William M. Lemmon, Littlestown veterinarian.

Permits for new tires and tubes for trucks to be used in hauling feed, fuel, farm products and for hauling plumbing, heating, painting and roofing materials have been granted to the following:

Roy L. Weidner, Gardners R. 2; J. R. Robinson, New Oxford; Lawrence A. Smith, McSherrystown; Nevin E. Pitzer, New Oxford R. 2; William L. Peterman, New Oxford; John E. Palmer, Littlestown R. 2; A. C. 40-Hours Devotion Opens Here Sunday

Forty hours devotion will open with a high mass at 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning in St. Francis Xavier Catholic church and will continue through special services to be conducted Sunday evening and on Monday and Tuesday mornings and evenings.

The Rev. Fr. James Gleason, C.M., Germantown, will come here to conduct the devotions. There will be services on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday evenings at 7:30 o'clock. Masses will be held Monday and Tuesday mornings at 5:30, 7:30 and 9 o'clock.

Dividend Declared By Thrift Plan Here

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Thrift Plan of Gettysburg, a quarterly dividend was declared for the quarter ending September 30. The dividend, the fourth for this year, will be payable October 1 and will be on the basis of six per cent per year on all preferred stock of the corporation. Other dividends were paid on January 1, April 1 and July 1.

WM RAILROAD APPEAL AIRED IN MARYLAND

Maryland's Public Service Commission Thursday studied a petition by the Western Maryland Railroad to abandon its train making a round trip daily from Baltimore to Gettysburg, and serving all local stations enroute, says an Associated Press dispatch from Baltimore.

At a hearing Wednesday attorneys for the railroad testified that the number of persons riding the train was small in comparison with its capacity and did not justify the expense.

Residents of Maryland and Pennsylvania communities affected by the petition argued that the train service is necessary to their towns and that abandonment of the train would leave them without train service.

Bus Service

The train leaves Baltimore daily except Sunday at 7:30 a. m. and leaves Gettysburg on the return trip at 4 p. m. It includes the engine, a combination express and baggage car and a passenger coach.

The attorneys for the Western Maryland told the Public Service Commission that the line from Baltimore to Gettysburg is paralleled by bus service except for one deviation near the Pennsylvania and Maryland line.

The Public Service Commission announced following the hearing that the case will be taken under advisement, its decision announced later.

'42 CHRISTMAS SEALS HERE FOR EARLY MAILING

Christmas Seals for use on Christmas mail and packages for service men abroad can be secured now through the Adams County Tuberculosis society at the office of the Gettysburg Motor club, center square. Professor L. C. Keefe, president of the association, announced today. Miss Helen Spangler, secretary of the motor club has been named temporary secretary of the association to succeed the late Miss Selma Fisel.

On behalf of the tuberculosis society it was explained that some individuals might also desire to send a sheet of Christmas Seals to relatives and friends serving in the armed forces outside of the United States.

This opportunity is provided because of the announcement by the postal authorities that Christmas mail for men serving abroad should be mailed by October, or not later than November 1.

Farm Scene

The 1942 Christmas Seal shows a farm scene on a bright winter day. The seals bear the words "Merry Christmas" and show the double-barred cross which is the world-wide emblem of the fight against tuberculosis.

The use of this seal on gift packages, letters and cards will brighten and "dress-up" mail going to men and women in foreign lands. The snow scene will appeal especially to the boys in the South Seas and other warm climates. In addition to increasing the Christmas appearance of the mail the use of the Christmas Seals will aid the fight against tuberculosis on the home front during the war.

AIRPORT POLICEMAN

Floyd L. Maurer, who formerly was a member of the Gettysburg subdivision of the state police, has been promoted from the rank of patrolman to chief patrolman in the Army Air Force at the Connelville airport.

48th WEDDING ANNIVERSARY
Mr. and Mrs. Frank Felix, Mummasburg, are quietly observing their forty-eighth wedding anniversary today.

Two men wanted: Night men and dishwasher. Any age. Hotel Gettysburg.

To Pick Apples

Dr. Abdel Ross Wentz, President of the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological seminary, who will lead 64 of his 76 seminarians into the orchards of Adams county Monday afternoon to help Adams county growers harvest their 1942 bumper apple crop. Because of a shortage of labor Doctor Wentz has directed that the seminary close at noon during the harvest season to permit his students to help pick the apple crop. Several faculty members will also join their president and the students in the war effort.

One Injured When Truck-Sedan Crash

Damage estimated at $175 resulted when a car and a truck collided about 4:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon a half mile west of New Oxford on the Lincoln highway. One occupant of the truck was injured slightly.

Investigation of the mishap by Corporal F. C. Russell, of the Gettysburg detail of the state motor police, showed that Paul W. Dellinger, 17, Gettysburg R. 4, was driving west in a truck following a sedan operated by Irene C. Smith, 49, Hanover.

Temple Students Due Here Tuesday

Between 30 and 40 Temple university students are expected to start their Civilian Pilot Training course here next Tuesday.

Temple university in Philadelphia has leased the Ler-Meade inn, two miles south of Gettysburg on the Emmitsburg road, for living quarters for the students.

Charles E. Metzger is making arrangements for the reception of the students next week.

Flight training for the C.P.T. course will be given at the airport along the Mummasburg road.

Allies Battle Japanese 32 Miles From Port Moresby

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, Sept. 18 (AP)—While Australian troops battled Japanese forces in the New Guinea jungles only 32 miles air line from Port Moresby, Allied fighter planes struck a smashing blow yesterday at the enemy supply base at Buna, General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

Approximately 35,000 rounds of cannon and machinegun fire were loosed by the Allied raiders in a concentrated attack, destroying or damaging 15 landing barges and setting fires in supply dumps, which were visible for 25 miles, a communique said.

Temporary Lull

The assault obviously was delivered with a view to relieving pressure on the Australian forces locked in combat with the Japanese near the village of Ioribaiwa, on the southern slopes of the lofty Owen Stanley mountains.

The fighting in that area, which the Japanese reached Wednesday after a swift eight-mile advance, apparently had abated somewhat in intensity, the Allied communique describing the action as sporadic.

A spokesman at Allied headquarters, however, said that both sides were busily maneuvering for position, and it appeared probable that the bill would be short-lived.

The Japanese spearhead at Ioribaiwa is approximately 90 miles southwest of Buna, where the invaders established a base late in July. All the supplies to feed their overland push toward Port Moresby flow through that base, being brought there by ship from upper New Guinea or from New Britain.

Set Large Fires

The latter source of supply also was subjected to a new assault by Allied heavy bombers, which set fires visible for 30 miles in a sharp night attack on Rabaul. General MacArthur's headquarters disclosed that another Japanese base on New Britain, was reported bombed simultaneously with unobserved results.

There was no mention of any Japanese air activity anywhere in the New Guinea theater with the exception of a hit-and-run raid on Port Moresby carried out by a single enemy plane under cover of darkness.

"There was little damage," the official announcement said.

Caterpillar Treads Crush Foe In Holes

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

Moscow, Sept. 18 (AP)—Taking a stand with the precipitous banks of the Volga at their very backs, the defenders of Stalingrad have counter-attacked and wiped out two enemy wedges within the city in a supreme, last-ditch effort to save the great manufacturing center from the Germans, the Russians said today.

The Germans precipitated this bitter and thus far successful Russian counter-action by rushing into the city proper from the northwestern outskirts, and pushing almost to the cliffs overhanging the west bank of the Volga.

Terrible Street Battle

With no choice between counter-attack and surrender, the Russians took their stand.

A terrible battle flamed along the tree-lined avenues leading to the riverfront. The first German units which had speared through the city, pointed by tanks, were forced back. The struggle continued in mounting violence with the enemy trying to fortify himself in the northwestern fringe of Stalingrad.

Two successive German efforts to take Stalingrad by storm were reported repulsed in the last 24 hours.

The first penetration into the city's streets, announced, in last night's Russian communique, has been repulsed. The mid-day bulletin said that two battalions of enemy infantry again rushed into one of the streets but were forced to retreat after severe hand-to-hand fighting.

New Red Offensive

Meanwhile the Red Army was credited with a new offensive in the Voronezh area, about 300 miles northwest of Stalingrad.

Red Star, the Russian Army newspaper, said that an artillery, mortar and aerial bombardment to soften the German positions and plough paths through the enemy minefields, barbed wire systems and firepoints was followed by an infantry advance in several sectors.

Russian troops moved forward swiftly from the south and east, the dispatch said, and occupied several positions around German besieged Voronezh.

Stalingrad, however, remained the most vital sector of Russia's whole great battleship.

Planes Blast City

Field dispatches said the Nazi air force, striking in formations of 80 to 100 planes, continued to lay waste to sections of the Volga river city, but 19 were brought down by ground gunners and outnumbered Soviet fighters.

While the besieged force's position was difficult, communiques said a powerful drive from the northwest was smashed in street fighting yesterday and a similar fate befell two battalions which penetrated the city in another sector.

Soviet tanks were declared by the Army newspaper Red Star to have smashed into a Nazi-fortified zone, destroyed 46 anti-tank guns and killed 950 troops with gunfire and caterpillar treads, crushing enemy forces who had hidden in ditches behind the Volga hills.

The mid-day communique said troops defending the northwestern outskirts of Stalingrad repulsed both tank and infantry thrusts.

Hand-to-Hand Fighting
"Artillerymen destroyed 12 German tanks and wiped out two infantry companies," the communique said.

"In another sector two battalions of enemy infantry broke into the streets of the city, but were met with concentrated machinegun and automatic rifle fire. In hand-to-hand fighting which followed the Germans were routed and forced to retreat, losing about 500 killed and wounded."

The bodies of hundreds of German dead and the hulks of Nazi tanks and trucks were reported to have littered the streets after the Russians won the upper hand in the fighting in the northwestern section of Stalingrad yesterday.

Heroic Reds

Firing points and anti-tank obstacles were hastily erected by the Germans for protection against counterattacks and to serve as a springboard for another effort to drive to the heart of Stalingrad, Red Star said.

At a recent meeting of the board of directors of the Thrift Plan of Gettysburg, a quarterly dividend was declared for the quarter ending September 30. The dividend, the fourth for this year, will be payable October 1 and will be on the basis of six per cent per year on all preferred stock of the corporation. Other dividends were paid on January 1, April 1 and July 1.

WM RAILROAD APPEAL AIRED IN MARYLAND

Maryland's Public Service Commission Thursday studied a petition by the Western Maryland Railroad to abandon its train making a round trip daily from Baltimore to Gettysburg, and serving all local stations enroute, says an Associated Press dispatch from Baltimore.

At a hearing Wednesday attorneys for the railroad testified that the number of persons riding the train was small in comparison with its capacity and did not justify the expense.

Residents of Maryland and Pennsylvania communities affected by the petition argued that the train service is necessary to their towns and that abandonment of the train would leave them without train service.

Bus Service

The train leaves Baltimore daily except Sunday at 7:30 a. m.; and leaves Gettysburg on the return trip at 4 p. m. It includes the engine, a combination express and baggage car and a passenger coach.

The attorneys for the Western Maryland told the Public Service Commission that the line from Baltimore to Gettysburg is paralleled by bus service except for one deviation near the Pennsylvania and Maryland line.

The Public Service Commission announced following the hearing that the case will be taken under advisement, its decision announced later.

'42 CHRISTMAS SEALS HERE FOR EARLY MAILING

Christmas Seals for use on Christmas mail and packages for service men abroad can be secured now through the Adams County Tuberculosis society at the office of the Gettysburg Motor club, center square, Professor L. C. Keefeaver, president of the association, announced today. Miss Helen Spangler, secretary of the motor club has been named temporary secretary of the association to succeed the late Miss Selma Fissel.

On behalf of the tuberculosis society it was explained that some individuals might also desire to send a sheet of Christmas Seals to relatives and friends serving in the armed forces outside of the United States.

This opportunity is provided because of the announcement by the postal authorities that Christmas mail for men serving abroad should be mailed by October, or not later than November 1.

Farm Scene

The 1942 Christmas Seal shows a farm scene on a bright winter day. The seals bear the words "Merry Christmas" and show the double-barred cross which is the world-wide emblem of the fight against tuberculosis.

The use of this seal on gift packages, letters and cards will brighten and "dress-up" mail going to men and women in foreign lands. The snow scene will appeal especially to the boys in the South Seas and other warm climates. In addition to increasing the Christmas appearance of the mail the use of the Christmas Seals will aid the fight against tuberculosis on the home front during the war.

AIRPORT POLICEMAN

Floyd L. Maurer, who formerly was a member of the Gettysburg substation of the state police, has been promoted from the rank of patrolman to chief patrolman in the Army Air Force at the Connelville airport.

48th WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Felix, Mummaburg, are quietly observing their forty-eighth wedding anniversary today.

Two men wanted: Night man and dishwasher. Any age. Hotel Gettysburg.

To Pick Apples

Dr. Abdel Ross Wentz, President of the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological seminary, who will lead 64 of his 76 seminarians into the orchards of Adams county Monday afternoon to help Adams county growers harvest their 1942 bumper apple crop. Because of a shortage of labor Doctor Wentz has directed that the seminary close at noon during the harvest season to permit his students to help pick the apple crop. Several faculty members will also join their president and the students in the war effort.

One Injured When Truck-Sedan Crash

Damage estimated at $175 resulted when a car and a truck collided about 4:45 o'clock Thursday afternoon a half mile west of New Oxford on the Lincoln highway. One occupant of the truck was injured slightly.

Investigation of the mishap by Corporal F. C. Russell, of the Gettysburg detail of the state motor police, showed that Paul W. Dellinger, 17, Gettysburg R. 4, was driving west in a truck following a sedan operated by Irene C. Smith, 49, Hanover.

Temple Students Due Here Tuesday

Between 30 and 40 Temple university students are expected to start their Civilian Pilot Training course here next Tuesday.

Temple university in Philadelphia has leased the Lee-Meade inn, two miles south of Gettysburg on the Emmitsburg road, for living quarters for the students.

Charles E. Metzger is making arrangements for the reception of the students next week.

Flight training for the C.P.T. course will be given at the airport along the Mummaburg road.

Allies Battle Japanese 32 Miles From Port Moresby

General MacArthur's Headquarters, Australia, Sept. 18 (AP)—While Australian troops battled Japanese forces in the New Guinea jungles only 32 miles air line from Port Moresby, Allied fighter planes struck a smashing blow yesterday at the enemy supply base at Buna, General MacArthur's headquarters announced today.

Approximately 35,000 rounds of cannon and machinegun fire were loosed by the Allied raiders in a concentrated attack, destroying or damaging 15 landing barges and setting fires in supply dumps which were visible for 25 miles, a communique said.

Temporary Lull

The assault obviously was delivered with a view to relieving pressure on the Australian forces locked in combat with the Japanese near the village of Ioribaiwa, on the southern slopes of the lofty Owen Stanley mountains.

The fighting in that area, which the Japanese reached Wednesday after a swift eight-mile advance, apparently had abated somewhat in intensity, the Allied communique describing the action as sporadic.

A spokesman at Allied headquarters, however, said that both sides were busily maneuvering for position, and it appeared probable that the lull would be short-lived.

The Japanese spearhead at Ioribaiwa is approximately 90 miles southwest of Buna, where the invaders established a base late in July. All the supplies to feed their overland push toward Port Moresby flow through that base, being brought there by ship from upper New Guinea or from New Britain.

Set Large Fires
The latter source of supply also was subjected to a new assault by Allied heavy bombers, which set fires visible for 30 miles in a sharp night attack on Rabaul, General MacArthur's headquarters disclosed.

Gasmata, another Japanese base on New Britain, was reported bombed simultaneously with unobserved results.

There was no mention of any Japanese air activity anywhere in the New Guinea theater with the exception of a hit-and-run raid on Port Moresby carried out by a single enemy plane under cover of darkness.

"There was little damage," the official announcement said.

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

Moscow, Sept. 18 (AP)—Taking a stand with the precipitous banks of the Volga at their very backs, the defenders of Stalingrad have counter-attacked and wiped out two enemy wedges within the city in a supreme, last-ditch effort to save the great manufacturing center from the Germans, the Russians said today.

The Germans precipitated this bitter and thus far successful Russian counter-action by rushing into the city proper from the northwestern outskirts, and pushing almost to the cliffs overhanging the west bank of the Volga.

Terrible Street Battle

With no choice between counter-attack and surrender, the Russians took their stand.

A terrible battle flamed along the tree-lined avenues leading to the riverfront. The first German units which had speared through the city, pointed by tanks, were forced back. The struggle continued in mounting violence with the enemy trying to fortify himself in the northwestern fringe of Stalingrad.

Two successive German efforts to take Stalingrad by storm were reported repulsed in the last 24 hours.

The first penetration into the city's streets, announced in last night's Russian communique, has been repulsed. The mid-day bulletin said that two battalions of enemy infantry again rushed into one of the streets but were forced to retreat after severe hand-to-hand fighting.

Donate Books For Inmates At Jail

Two students at the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary are sponsoring a movement to supply reading material for inmates at the Adams county jail and thus far their efforts have resulted in the donation of eighteen books.

George Thompson and Otto Reimherr took it upon themselves to supply reading material for jail inmates. They made an appeal for books. Mrs. C. E. Bilheimer, West Broadway and Mrs. Rasmus S. Saby, Carlisle street, donated eighteen books. The students delivered them to the jail this week.

An effort is being made to secure subscriptions to magazines for the inmates.

BUSINESS CERTIFICATE

A certificate of carrying on business under an assumed or fictitious name has been placed on file at the office of Prothonotary Lee M. Hartman by James A. Knox as owner of the Gettysburg Steam Laundry. James Knox and Wilbur N. Knox have operated the laundry business since July 23. Wilbur Knox has sold his interest to James Knox who is now the sole owner.

"There was little damage," the official announcement said.

New Red Offensive
Meanwhile the Red Army was credited with a new offensive in the Voronezh area, about 300 miles northwest of Stalingrad.

Red Star, the Russian Army newspaper, said that an artillery, mortar and aerial bombardment to soften the German positions and plough paths through the enemy minefields, barbed wire systems and firepoints was followed by an infantry advance in several sectors.

Russian troops moved forward swiftly from the south and east, the dispatch said, and occupied several positions around German besieged Voronezh.

Stalingrad, however, remained the most vital sector of Russia's whole great battlefield.

Planes Blast City

Field dispatches said the Nazi air force, striking in formations of 80 to 100 planes, continued to lay waste to sections of the Volga river city, but 19 were brought down by ground gunners and outnumbered Soviet fighters.

While the besieged force's position was difficult, communiques said a powerful drive from the northwest was smashed in street fighting yesterday and a similar fate befell two battalions which penetrated the city in another sector.

Soviet tanks were declared by the Army newspaper Red Star to have smashed into a Nazi-fortified zone, destroyed 48 anti-tank guns and killed 950 troops with gunfire and caterpillar treads, crushing enemy forces who had hidden in ditches behind the Volga hills.

The mid-day communique said troops defending the northwestern outskirts of Stalingrad repulsed both tank and infantry thrusts.

Hand-to-Hand Fighting

"Artillerymen destroyed 12 German tanks and wiped out two infantry companies," the communique said.

"In another sector two battalions of enemy infantry broke into the streets of the city, but were met with concentrated machinegun and automatic rifle fire. In hand-to-hand fighting which followed the Germans were routed and forced to retreat, losing about 500 killed and wounded."

The bodies of hundreds of German dead and the hulks of Nazi tanks and trucks were reported to have littered the streets after the Russians won the upper hand in the fighting in the northwestern section of Stalingrad yesterday.

Heroic Reds

Firing points and anti-tank obstacles were hastily erected by the Germans for protection against counterattacks and to serve as a springboard for another effort to drive to the heart of Stalingrad, Red Star said.

CIO LOCAL MAY DECIDE FRIDAY ON STRIKE VOTE

New Kensington, Pa., Sept. 17 (AP)—While officials of the CIO Aluminum Workers of America continued conferences with the War Labor Board at Washington today, their largest local here announced it would meet Friday night to select a date for taking a strike vote.

Medward Durborow, recording secretary of Local 2, said the move was made at a regular weekly meeting last night.

The action came, Durborow said, after Nicholas A. Zonarch, international president, informed him by telephone that negotiations between the union and the Aluminum Company of America were "broken off" when M. M. Anderson, vice president of the concern, "walked out" of a conference at the capitol yesterday.

The union's demand for a $1-a-day wage raise was rejected by a directive of the War Labor Board which provided, however, that any inequalities or substandard wage rates could be adjusted by further negotiations between the company and the union.

The union contended that while the company had boosted its overall payroll by more than 15 per cent since January, 1941, workers in northern mills, like New Kensington, had not received that much of an increase. As an instance, they claimed that steel workers in Pittsburgh now are paid a basic rate of 78 cents an hour including their recent increase of 5 1/2 cents, as compared with a 73 cents an hour scale paid by Alcoa.

The company has insisted that the union first accept the board's directive and then begin its negotiations, a step Zonarch has declined to take.

A company spokesman, who asked his name not be used, said Anderson had assured him in New York he had left the Washington conference only after Chairman William H. Davis of the WLB informed him his presence no longer was needed.

Westinghouse Grants Five-Cent Pay Boost

Pittsburgh, Sept. 17 (AP)—A wage increase of five cents an hour, boosting the basic rate to 78 cents, went into effect Wednesday for more than 8,000 production workers of the Westinghouse Air Brake and the Union Switch & Signal company in adjoining Wilmerding and Swissvale.

The increase was provided in an agreement reached between officials of the companies and the CIO United Electrical, Radio & Machine Workers of America yesterday.

Whether the raise will be retroactive to June 30 or July 30 is to be decided by Jacob Blair of the United States conciliation service. He was chosen as arbitrator after the union and company failed to agree on the date. The union contended the old contract was ended June 30, when it formally notified the company of a desire to reopen it. The company contends the contract extended 30 days after that date.

Irene Dunne Dinner Sale Over Million

Pittsburgh, Sept. 17 (AP) — War bond sales for a $3,750-a-plate luncheon with Actress Irene Dunne went over the million-dollar mark Wednesday.

But that sum was little more than one-half of the amount subscribed for the "Night of Stars" show tonight, after the luncheon. Officials said approximately $1,800,000 had been subscribed for that event to be staged at Syria Mosque. Miss Dunne, Jackie Cooper and Gertrude Niesen will be the principals in the four-hour show.

BLUE BARRON AT YORK

Blue Barron and his orchestra will furnish the music for the first of weekly dances to be held at the Playland, York, Friday, September 25. The Playland is also used for roller skating.

He quoted Anderson as saying it had been his understanding before he left Washington that an agreement appeared near between the board and the union, regarding the union's acceptance of the directive.

YANKS JOIN RAF 800 PLANE RAID ON RUHR VALLEY

London, Sept. 17 (AP)—Massed squadrons of possibly 800 RAF bombers unloaded another huge load of explosives upon the industrial heart of Germany last night, striking at the Ruhr in a renewed effort to aid Soviet Russia by crippling Adolf Hitler's war-making machinery.

This massive night blow at the Ruhr, the Air Ministry disclosed, followed a daring dusk attack by light British bombers on Wiesbaden, in the Rhineland. Wiesbaden is the seat of the German armistice commission that deals with French armistice matters.

The night raid, delivered by "a very strong force of bombers," left many fires burning, some of them very large, the communiqué said.

British losses in the two air forays were 39 planes, it was announced. If the usual five per cent loss ratio prevailed, the RAF may have sent over as many as 800 planes. An authoritative source said specifically, however, that it was not a 1,000-bomber operation.

Yanks on Raid

Two American pilots serving with the Royal Canadian Air Force reported many fires in the Ruhr valley.

"The fires were not so concentrated as in the 1,000-bomber raid on Cologne, but they covered a wider area," reported Flight Sgt. Edward Murphy of Dorchester, Massachusetts, a veteran of many raids. "The red glow from the fires was reflected by the clouds over the target."

Sgt. James Burton, 25, of Billings, Montana, said "the Ruhr valley defenses were extremely hot — they were pouring it up."

"Whenever a cone of searchlights focussed on a plane, the Germans sent up the whole works. We were caught in a beam once or twice, but we weren't coned."

Reflecting the tenseness created in Germany by this continuing offensive was a Berlin broadcast yesterday warning the German people to "see to it that the blackout is complete." The warning was repeated by all Nazi radio stations.

While the RAF was over Germany last night a few Nazi raiders dropped bombs at several places in East Anglia, but official reports said they did little damage and caused no casualties.

FREEZE FARM MACHINERY OF SOME CLASSES

Harrisburg, Sept. 17 (AP)—A federal order which today "froze" farm machinery in the hands of dealers—prior to rationing—was hailed by James E. Walker, chairman of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's State War Board, as "necessary to insure fair distribution of available equipment."

Walker asserted the order also made certain that equipment will be distributed "where it will do the most good in wartime farming production."

He said rationing of farm machinery would be handled by county rationing committees comprised of the County Agricultural Adjustment Association chairman and two farmers named by the County War Board.

The program will be supervised by the Department of Agriculture.

Three Classes

Rationing will include these three classifications:

1. Farm machinery which is scarce. Equipment in this category may be sold only with approval of the county committee.
2. Machinery which is more available. Items may be sold if the farmer certifies to the dealer that the machinery is necessary.
3. Smaller items which may be sold without restrictions.

Walker said Group No. One included beet lifters, beet loaders, combines, corn pickers, disc harrows, feed grinders, fertilizer spreaders, grain drills, grain elevators, hay balers, lime spreaders, manure spreaders, milk coolers, milking machines, pickup balers, potato diggers, shredders and tractors.

Group Two comprises most other farm machinery while Group Three includes hoes, rakes, forks, scythes, shovels and all hand-operated and one and two-horse drawn equipment not included in Group A.

Wartime Traffic Pounds State Roads

Harrisburg, Sept. 17 (AP)—Heavy wartime traffic is giving Pennsylvania's lighter roads a real pounding, the State Highways department reported today in a survey which disclosed the main arteries are proving equal to the loads. From 1939 to 1942, the report said, 56.7 cents of every motor license fund dollar was spent on improvements.

The Axis overran 1,060,377 square miles of territory in Europe in the first three years of the war.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate dropped, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Holds false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not "sour." Check's "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug store.

State Farms Keep At Highest Level

Harrisburg, Sept. 17 (AP)—Despite a serious labor shortage, farms operated by Pennsylvania state institutions are maintaining at the "highest levels," the Welfare department said.

Arthur Sweeny, secretary, reported the farms milk production reached a new high during the year ended May 31 with 19,213,943 pounds of milk from 1,548 cows.

SAVE YOUR TIRES!

Reporting to the President on America's rubber crisis, the special Baruch Rubber Committee recommends in part:

"That compulsory periodic tire inspection be instituted."

Thousands are already guarding future mileage with Esso "16 to 1" tire service!

Five weeks ago... long before the President's special rubber committee recommended "compulsory periodic tire inspection" as a means to keep the nation's motor cars rolling... Esso Dealers launched a remarkable new program to do that very thing!

Based on two new scientific instruments, this service lets your Esso Dealer measure accurately the mileage remaining in your set of tires as they stand right now. In 16 cases out of 17, we have found that motorists have more miles left than they think they have!

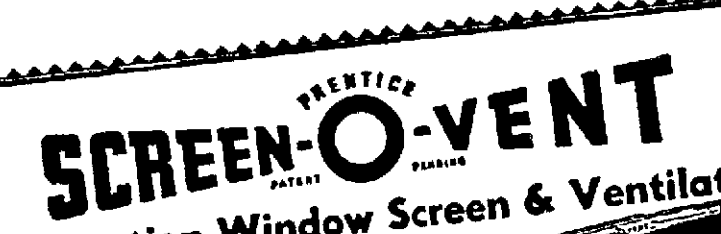

That extra mileage is vital. It must be saved.

It can be saved for you by your Esso Dealer. As fast as possible we are supplying Esso Dealers with the new tread depth gauges and tire mileage calculators. Your Esso Dealer has his or soon will have. See him now. Let him measure your miles to come. Then let him help you see that you get every last one of them!

STANDARD OIL COMPANY OF PENNSYLVANIA

NEW TIRES?... If your tires are completely gone, and you have a rationing certificate for new ones, see your Esso Dealer. He can get deep-tread new Atlas tires in any size. Then let him help you keep them right for the duration. Don't buy new tires unless you absolutely have to. Then don't buy less than the best!

THE WAR TODAY

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

WIDE WORLD WAR ANALYST

Special Ambassador Wendell Willkie, who is now in Russia, would achieve a notable contribution to United Nations victory if he could find some way of breaking through a Muscovite reserve which at times forms a really formidable barrier to close cooperation with the other allies.

What I'm getting at is that the Russians in many instances are maintaining such a close-mouthed attitude about details of their war effort that Uncle Sam and John Bull often find difficulty in figuring just what the situation is. For instance, I believe you'd have to search hard to find an American or British staff officer who claimed to know just what the Red military position has been during the crucial fighting in the Caucasus this summer.

Need Details

Now such a lack of information makes it difficult for Russia's allies to know exactly what cooperation is needed in specific cases. No general staff is going to fling its forces into action blindly.

Of course, the Russians are by nature people of action and not too many words. Premier Stalin, one of the outstanding leaders of our time, is such a notable example of this characteristic that he sometimes is referred to as the sphinx of Moscow.

Still, the thing cuts a good deal deeper than that. There have been signs that Moscow might not have complete confidence in her allies. If there is such lack, the situation hasn't been helped any by the feeling in at least some circles in Russia that the United States and Britain could have done more in the matter of opening a second-front. Unfortunately this suspicion must have been strengthened by the demand for a second front from uninformed and ill-advised people in both America and Britain.

Fear Communism

But it strikes me that we have to look even further back to find the basic reason why the Muscovites play their cards so close to their chests that even their friends can't kibitz. For the greater part of the past century the Soviet Union stood apart among the nations of the world because of the almost universal hostility towards the political doctrine of communism.

So the Reds hoed their own row, and nothing was more natural than that they should build a mighty barrier about themselves to the exclusion of a world which was fearful of Bolshevism. The secrecy which surrounded Russia, and still does, is one of the amazing phases of history, for the outside world has known little of what went on within her borders.

Proof of this lies in Hitler's misjudgment of the Soviet military strength. That wasn't strange, however, for as I have mentioned before in this column, when I toured eastern Europe just after Munich, I was told in every capital that Russia was impotent militarily, and couldn't wage war. The secret services of Germany and the other European countries are among the most formidable in the world. And yet even they couldn't penetrate the Red wall of secrecy.

Must Dispel Feeling

It is understandable that under such circumstances Moscow should still be reticent in disclosing its affairs to the world. At the same time there seems to be no reason why this feeling shouldn't be dispelled, since it isn't due to any lack of desire to fulfill the obligations of the alliance to the end.

Proof of the Russian willingness to die for the cause is before us in the magnificent defense of Stalingrad. Proof of the barrier of secrecy also is seen in the same historic siege, for Russia's allies don't know even in this crisis just what reserve power the Red army may be able to produce.

So there, Mr. Willkie, is a grand opportunity for you.

DEATH

Garry E. Fanus

Garry Eugene Fanus, 20-day-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Fanus, Mt. Holly Springs, died at the Carlisle hospital this morning.

U.S. SUBS TAKE BIG JAP TOLL

Washington, Sept. 18 (AP)—The toll taken by United States submarines on Japan's western Pacific supply lines was raised today to 107 ships sunk or damaged with the Navy's report that four more enemy ships were destroyed and four others struck by torpedoes.

The Navy's latest communiqué announced that the American undersea campaign recently sent two large freighters, a medium sized tanker and a small patrol boat to the bottom of the Pacific. In addition, last night's communiqué added, a large tanker was torpedoed and left ablaze and a large freighter, a large transport and a medium sized cargo ship were damaged.

The operations, the Navy said, were unrelated to the continuing campaigns in the Solomon and Aleutian Islands.

The announced total of 107 Japanese ships sunk or damaged since the war started was viewed in naval circles as a severe blow to the island empire in maintaining vital supply lines to her mandated bases and garrisons in the Philippines and Malaya. Thirty-two of the vessels were naval craft of various types.

ENROLLS AT WILSON

Miss Marion Thomas of Biglerville is among the 110 young women who will register Saturday as members of the freshman class at Wilson college in Chambersburg. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Thomas of Biglerville and prepared for college at the Biglerville high school.

Mrs. Bream is employed at the Knouse Corporation, Peach Glen. Private Bream is stationed with the U. S. Army Air Corps at Keesler Field, Mississippi.

EXPECT DEFEAT ON PARITY BILL

Washington, Sept. 18 (AP)—Congressional farm leaders conceded today they were likely to lose their efforts to force an upward revision of agricultural parity price formulas in legislation designed to give President Roosevelt broad controls over the cost of living.

Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.), who has urged that wages of farm labor be considered among the factors determining how much the producer ought to receive for his crops, said he feared the Senate Banking committee would reject any amendment changing the basis for parity.

"We won't get it over the President's opposition," he told reporters. The President wrote Chairman Wagner (D-NY) of the Senate committee and Chairman Steagall (D-Ala) of the House committee yesterday expressing "unalterable opposition" to any change in the method of computing parity, which is a price level calculated to give farmers a return equal to that of a past favorable period, usually 1909-14.

He was promptly joined in this opposition by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard and Price Administrator Leon Henderson, both of whom said any change would tend to increase the cost of living.

Set Dates For 3 Damage Hearings

Dates for the first three hearings in the eight damage claim cases resulting from the re-location of the Western Maryland railroad lines east of here last year have been set for next week. Dates for hearings in the other cases will be set next week.

On Tuesday a hearing will be conducted by a court appointed board of viewers in the claim by Edgar Weaner and his wife. Another board will hear the claim of Lillia and Margaret Otto on the following day and on Thursday the case of Ellis R. and Z. Blanche Miller is listed. All of the hearings will take place in the law library at the court house. Each hearing is scheduled for 10 a. m.

Arendtsville Scrap Collection Monday

Charles Smith, head of the Arendtsville salvage committee, announced today that the collection of salvage in Arendtsville and vicinity will be held next Monday evening.

Beginning at 5:30 o'clock trucks, manned by boys, will tour the area collecting the materials. Residents are requested to have all salvage ready and placed at a convenient place for collection.

The first fall dinner meeting of the Soroptimist club of Gettysburg will be held next Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Blue Parrot tea room with Miss Dorothy M. Warner, supervisor of special education in Adams county, as the guest speaker.

Leander Martin, York street, was arrested Thursday afternoon by Borough Officer Charles W. Culp on a disorderly conduct charge which has been filed before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore. The defendant was committed to jail for a later hearing before the local justice.

William Dubbs, Delap avenue, has been released from the county jail under $500 bond for his appearance this evening at 6 o'clock before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder. Dubbs was arrested Thursday by borough police for the theft of $10 from a National Garage cash register.

Mrs. Hershell Fortney, Gettysburg R. 5; Mrs. Theodore Ridenour, Thurmont, and Mrs. Ralph Starnes, Gardner R. 2, have been admitted as patients to the Warner hospital. Discharges included Raymond P. Weaver, Fourth street; Mrs. Richard Fox, Stevens street; and Mrs. Joseph Season and infant daughter, Virginia Ellen, South Washington street.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Hershell Fortney, Gettysburg D. 5, announce the birth of a daughter at the Warner hospital today.

A son was born today at the hospital to Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Ridenour, Thurmont.

GREW WARNS U.S. JAPAN IS TOUGH ENEMY

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 18 (AP)—

Describing Japan as our most formidable enemy, far tougher than Germany, former Ambassador Joseph C. Grew told a war rally luncheon here today that the Germans cracked in 1918 and they will crack again, but the Japanese will fight until they are utterly crushed.

Grew, who was an American diplomat in Berlin in 1917 and American ambassador in Tokyo in 1941, indicated he was profoundly shocked to hear people in this country talk as if Germany in time would be defeated "and then we'll mop up the Japs."

He agreed with those who believe German morale will not survive a series of setbacks. But he added, in a prepared speech broadcast over the NBC network:

Japs Will Not Crack

"The Japanese will not crack. They will not crack morally or psychologically or economically, even when eventual defeat stares them in the face... only by utter physical destruction or utter exhaustion of their men and materials can they be defeated."

"That," he said, "is the difference between the Germans and the Japanese. That is what we are up against in fighting Japan."

It is difficult for Americans who have never lived in Japan, Grew continued, to form any conception of the overweening confidence of the Japanese Army and Navy in their ability to subjugate not only large areas of Asia but of the Western hemisphere, too.

"You realize that the Japanese are already in the Aleutian islands, don't you?" he asked. "Not far from Alaska... I mention it merely as a concrete indication of what the armed forces of Japan hope to do, and what they intend to do—and what they will do if they can. First to bomb important American centers and then more eventually, invade America."

Military Might

"And let us not allow ourselves to be lulled into thinking that these hopes are merely pipe dreams, impossible of fulfillment. The Japanese may seem to us fantastic and, at times, barbarians. But in building their army they have been extremely practical and level-headed, forging a military nation which today must be recognized as one of the most formidable in the world."

The Japanese have trained long and arduously for full-scale modern war, Grew pointed out, and have made a specialty of following the "impossible" route to their objective.

Illustrating the fanatical, uncompromising sternness of this spirit, Grew told how he once received from the Chinese government the name of a Japanese who had been taken prisoner in China and who wished to let his family in Japan know he was alive and well. The ambassador communicated this information to the government in Tokyo, which replied that it "was not interested in receiving such information. So far as they, the government, were concerned, and also so far as his own family was concerned, that man was officially dead... The man who allows himself to be captured has disgraced himself and his country."

Not Invulnerable

Despite this fanatical "victory or death" spirit among the Japanese, despite their formidable equipment, their years of practical experience in warfare and their spectacular successes, the Japanese empire is by no means invulnerable. It has its weak points too, Grew said.

Chief among these are the continued existence of strong Allied positions on the flanks of the far-flung fringe of Japanese outposts in the Pacific, and the fact that communications and transport between these widely separated positions "must be carried on very largely by water."

references to individual Red Army men who slew 10 to 12 Germans and to single machinegun crews which accounted for as many as 40. A detachment fighting from behind ruined brick walls was credited with the destruction of seven Nazi tanks and the slaughter of 200 troops.

The Germans attacked in a familiar pattern. Squads of automatic rifle men, hunched low and running, moved up first in an effort to cut through and disrupt defenses from the rear. Tanks and motorized infantry followed them. Overhead, planes dumped bombs on knots of Soviet resistance.

Streams of bullets whined and ricocheted through the streets and the defenders were forced back for a time, but they rebounded to oust the invaders at bayonet point, yard by yard and house by house.

The Russians were backed down tree-lined avenues to cliffs overlooking the Volga waterfront at one time. With precipices behind them and tanks before them, they organized their counterattack in a supreme effort to save the great economic center from the Germans.

A mass dispatch said thousands of fresh Siberian troops, their military training newly completed, were now moving to the front.

Upper Communities

The names of the following members of the congregation of Trinity Lutheran church, Arendtsville, appeared on the roll of honor at the dedication of a service flag presented by the members of the church Sunday morning: The Rev. George H. Berkheimer, the church pastor who is serving with the armed forces in Australia, Williams Allison, Jr., Lee Carey, Lester Carey, Robert Carey, Ralph Cooley, Wayne Criswell, Blair Fissel, Jesse Fissel, Ray Fickinger, John Funt, Herman Hartman, John W. Lupp, John Miller, Paul I. Orner, Ralph R. Stum, Francis Thomas, Jr. and Donald Wampler.

The Rev. H. D. Hoover, of Gettysburg, who is the church's guest minister, preached on the theme "Sacrifice That Blesses."

Mr. and Mrs. John Albert, of Biglerville, were visitors to York, Wednesday.

Dean Fink and John Flury, of Biglerville, spent Thursday at the York fair.

Mrs. Carl Hildebrand, accompanied by her daughters, Clara Lou and Lola Ann, of York, are spending several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Roth, of Biglerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burkhardt and son have moved from Mrs. Maud Walter's property on Mabel street to the property of Mrs. Mabel Thomas on West York street, Biglerville.

The Friendship class of Trinity Bender's Evangelical and Reformed Sunday school, Biglerville, donated $2 to the Biglerville fund for soldiers' kits at its monthly meeting held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Roy Lawver with the president, Miss Mildred Osborn, presiding. The October meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Earl Pohl.

PFC Donald Wentz, Keesler Field, Mississippi, is spending a 12-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Wentz, Biglerville.

Bruce Taylor and son, Carl, Blaine G. Walter and Roy Himes, Biglerville, visited at New Cumberland Thursday evening and learned Mr. Taylor's son, Ralph, had already been sent to a camp.

The Peter Pan Players Dramatic club of Biglerville high school held its opening fall meeting Thursday evening at the high school building. The program was in charge of the initiation committee, Dean Carey and Donald Nary, who conducted an informal initiation of three new members, Martha Hollabaugh, Theodore Slaybaugh and Guenther Slusser.

The regular meeting followed in the library of the school at which time plans were made for the nine meetings which will be held during the year. Places were also designated for the meetings. The club decided to attend the presentation of "The Corn Is Green," starring Ethel Barrymore, at Hershey, October 13. Each member of the club is now reading a play, a resume of which will be given at the next meeting. Three members will then be appointed as a committee to choose the play to be given as the first presentation of the club this year.

Vivian Rebert, president, presided at the meeting at which George Reisinger, the faculty advisor, was present. The club adjourned for refreshments at Bucher's restaurant.

French Star Weds Dominican Official

Vichy, Sept. 18 (AP)—Danielle Darrieux, French movie actress, was married today to Porfirio Rubirosa, Dominican Charge D'Affaires in Vichy.

Witnesses of the ceremony, performed by the mayor of Vichy, were Mrs. Douglas MacArthur, 2d, wife of the second secretary of the United States embassy, and Souza Dantes, the Brazilian ambassador. (MacArthur is General MacArthur's nephew).

Both were married previously. Miss Darrieux's divorce from her director-husband Henry Decoin was announced in Paris Feb. 20, 1941.

Countian Faces Code Violation

Earl W. McCreaf, Biglerville R. 2, has been charged with a stop sign violation as a result of police investigation of an automobile collision which occurred Thursday evening about 6 o'clock at the intersection of North Washington and West Water streets. The investigation was made and the charge was filed by Borough Officer Charles W. Culp before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder.

The other car involved in the mishap was operated by Charles Weikert, Gettysburg taxi driver. No one was hurt in the crash and damage totaled about $15.

LEGION MEETING

Officers for the coming year will be elected at the regular meeting of the members of the Albert J. Lentz post No. 202 of the American Legion to be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the Legion home on Baltimore street. Refreshments are to be served after the meeting.

Harrisburg, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Dauphin county court today refused to withhold certification of the nomination of John W. Murphy as the democratic candidate for Congress pending a decision by the State Supreme court on his right to a place on the ballot at the November election.

Washington, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration today issued a double-barreled order aimed at maintaining quality of shoes in any given line over which price ceilings have been placed. In the first place, OPA prescribed that new style in a line of shoes shall be the highest price charged during March, 1942, for any style in that line.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 18 (AP)—Katharine Hepburn, stage and screen actress, was divorced today by her husband, Ogden Ludlow, of Alexandria, Va., in Superior court here. Judge Patrick B. O'Sullivan rendered judgment for the plaintiff on the grounds of desertion.

Washington, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Office of Defense Transportation today coordinated bus service between Harrisburg, Pa., and New York city, in an order involving the equipment of six transportation companies.

Effective October 5, the companies must stagger their schedules, permit interchange of tickets, use terminals jointly wherever possible, and eliminate excursion rates. Schedules were frozen as of August 5.

The first session—for Lebanon, Lancaster, York, Adams, Franklin, Cumberland, Perry, Juniata, Dauphin and Mifflin counties—will be followed a day later by a similar meeting in Wilkes-Barre.

State Highway department trucks will be used in every county to collect material collected in the September 15 to 30 drive to find 3,000,000 tons of scrap. The state council of defense said use of the trucks "will solve a transportation problem and should result in a thorough clean-up of the farms of the state."

Organize Pupils

Dr. Francis B. Haas, state superintendent of Public Instruction, announced all Pennsylvania school officials have been directed to organize pupils in a "salvage for victory" drive starting October 5.

Meanwhile, Colley S. Baker, secretary of the State Defense Council's Salvage committee, disclosed 18 of the 67 counties have collected 4,252 tons of iron and steel since Tuesday.

The county figures: Lehigh, 1,312; Lycoming, 962; Montgomery 475; Carbon 130; Clinton 33; Columbia 60; Dauphin 44; Delaware 38; Elk 34; Fayette 100; Lancaster 425; McKean 37; Mercer 96; Northumberland 96; Potter 18; Union 51 and Washington 98.

Cards Rally And Dodgers Shrink So St. Louis Boosts National Lead To 3 Games

SERIES HOPE FADING AWAY FOR BROOKLYN

By SID FEDER

(By The Associated Press)

Well, children, it looks like you can patch up what's left of the ties on the family bus and head for old St. Loo for your World series fun, and from what's been going on here lately it is no longer so much the Cardinals winning as the Dodgers losing the National league flag.

For, if ever a club looked like it had folded up, the Dodgers from Flatbush did just that yesterday in dropping a 3-2 decision to the Pittsburgh Pirates for their sixth setback in seven games.

What made the Bums seem all the more pathetic was the way the Cards kept right on fighting in Boston and finally won out 6-4 with a five-run blast in the ninth, to go three games in front in the pennant parade.

Lippy Leo Shrinks

At the same instant as the guys from St. Louis were finally getting to Al Javery—after being miffed with five hits for eight frames—three Dodgers were walking meekly up to the plate at Ebbets Field for their ninth-inning "licks" and being retired in order with no more fight than you'll find in a dead chicken.

What's more, needing only one run to tie, Leo the Lip Durocher hardly looked the part of the great master mind in letting Pitcher Max Macon bat for himself to start the inning off. Up to that point, Max hadn't hit a ball out of the infield all afternoon, and he kept his record intact by popping to the catcher.

The net result of these proceedings was to put the Cards in a spot where only a major catastrophe, like the fall of the Bank of England or if Joe Louis should lose his appetite for fried chicken, can keep the Redbirds out of the Senior circuit championship, climaxing one of the sturdiest uphill fights in years. For, not only were they three games in front with only eight to go, but two of these games were on the important "losing side" in the records.

Today's Picture

At the moment, as the Cards headed west to pick up against the Cubs Saturday and the Dodgers tangled with the Phillies today, here was the picture:

	W.	L.	To Play
Cardinals	99	47	8
Dodgers	95	49	10

20 Game Winner

Joe DiMaggio's 20th homer of the season, good for three runs, was the big blow for the Yanks as they knocked off the Detroit Tigers 7-4. This marked the eighth season in which the Bombers had chalked up 100 or more victories, adding one more year to the mark they already had.

Hughson became the first 20-game winner for the Boston Red Sox since the hey-day of Wesley-the-Cheek Ferrell. Tex spread nine hits among the St. Louis Browns without doing his spreading too thickly at any one point, and galloped off with a 5-1 decision.

Believe it or not, the pitching job of the afternoon came out of the Philadelphia Athletics. Young Roger Wolf had Jimmy Dykes moaning in agony as he handcuffed the Chicago White Sox with just two safeties for a 1-0 victory.

Indians Beat Senators

Out in Cleveland, Sid Hudson arrived on the scene in the 11th inning for the Senators just in time to walk home the winning run that gave the Indians a 6 to 5 ball game.

Babe Young, who is no great shucks going after a fly ball, but who knows somewhat more than one-and-one about the chief use for a bat, proved it at the Polo grounds by clouting a homer and three singles and knocking in seven runs to back up Harry Feldman's five-hit fast-balling and give the New York Giants an easy 11-1 win over the Cincinnati Reds.

The Chicago Cubs flied the Phillies 8-0 behind Hank Wyse's eight-hit whitewashing job.

DROWNS IN MANEUVERS

Leesville, La., Sept. 18 (AP)—The Third Army public relations office has announced the death of Sgt. Samuel Delcora, 24, of Pittston, Pa., and three other soldiers in a drowning accident. They were lost in an attempt to cross a flood-swollen stream. The only available bridge theoretically had been "destroyed" by opposing forces during maneuvers.

Too Fast For The Third Chevron

Private Billy Conn (left) points to Sgt. Joe Louis' sleeve during their meeting in New York for an explanation of the heavyweight champion's missing chevron. Just made a sergeant, Joe has not yet added the third chevron to his corporal's insignia. Conn and Louis will meet in Yankee Stadium, New York, Oct. 12 in a title bout.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

Wide World Columnist

New York, Sept. 18 — One thing that has hosed fans puzzled about the Whirlaway-Alsab match race tomorrow is who's going to be pace setter? . . . Both these goats—beg pardon, equine aristocrats—like to come from behind to win and unless one jockey is willing to take a chance on getting a licking by setting the pace, the affair is liable to be about as exciting as that great mile race a few years back when Cunningham, Venka and Mangan did everything but run backwards to keep from taking the lead. . . . To dress up the race a bit they're calling it the "Narragansett Championship" and instead of having numbers, the starting stalls will have signs "Whirlaway" and "Alsab" over them. . . . When George Halas scouted the Eastern Army All-Star footballers at Baltimore, his only comment was, "They keep coming at you."

TODAY'S GUEST STAR

Henry A. Sullivan, Salam (Mass.) News: "Of late 'The Bums' seem to have lost about everything, including the quotation marks."

SERVICE DEPT.

Eyoman Alfred G. Vanderbilt is around Baltimore working as contact man between the Navy and the city during a big recruiting drive, which ends the day before the Vanderbilt's Pimlico track opens its fall session. . . . Four years ago, 132-pound Hal Mollison was considered too light to box Hank Melody when both were fighting around Chicago. The other day, when Sgt. Mollison was transferred from his duties as Fort Sheridan boxing coach to another post, he weighed 180; Melody, who has been appearing in his shows at the fort, still scales 140. . . . When the end of the Great Lakes football team lined up for picture-taking recently, a joking photographer asked, "Which one is Hutson?" . . . "Which one?" demanded Coxswain Carl Mulleneaux, who used to play with Don on the Green Bay Packers, "you mean which six?"

SPORTFOURRI

Mrs. Warren Wright, who names all the Calumet Farm horses, has decided not to save up "Whirl" names until Whirlaway becomes a pappy. . . . At the suggestion of Fred Hayden, the AP equine expert, she has named Whirl's yearling sister "Whirllette." . . . Now Freddie is moaning, "The gal better be good. I'll have to have two bucks down every time she starts." . . . Latest football tip is that if Navy gets past the opener against William and Mary, the Midshipmen will be as hard to stop as the "Old Grads" were at Midway. . . . The Detroit Tigers' pitchers have challenged the rest of the squad to a ball game and they claim they'll win if they can have Centerfielder Doc Cramer to do their catching.

DOTS ALL BROTHERS

The Albert Lea, Minnesota, Tribune headlined a Minnesota football story: "Old-timers look good; rest of Gophers like amateurs." . . . Which, Dr. L. R. R. comments cynically, bears out the suspicions of a lot of Monday morning quarterbacks. . . . The Army voted no on suggestions for a meeting between the Eastern and Western All-Star teams, so the Westerners can have a nice claim on the "title" if they make a good showing at Syracuse tonight against their one common enemy, the Giants. When somebody congratulated Turk Edwards of the Washington Redskins on a nifty after-dinner speech, Turk came back: "Even a big, dumb tackle ought to be able to talk after working eleven years for George Marshall."

Teddy Roosevelt In Grid Hall Of Fame

Philadelphia, Sept. 18 (AP)—Teddy Roosevelt has a niche in America's new football hall of fame. The Robert W. Maxwell football club, founded in memory of the former sports writer and Swarthmore college star, said it swore Roosevelt for the newly-created hall because he "saved the game" 35 years ago by demanding new rules to reduce fatalities and injuries.

Other niches go to Knute Rockne and Walter Camp, often called the father of football, who was famous for his all-American teams.

Phils Seek Revenge In Series With Brooklyn

By JACK SMITH

Philadelphia, Sept. 18 (AP)—That feud between the cellar-dwelling Phils and the almost-mighty Dodgers is cropping up again—and don't be surprised if the lowly fellows blast the Bums' last glimmering hopes for the National league pennant in the series opening in Brooklyn today.

They're not talking about it publicly, but it's common knowledge here that Manager Hans Lober's much-smear losers are still ranked by the "slight," as they called it which they suffered at the hands of Larry MacPhail last Spring. MacPhail called off a Phils-dodgers exhibition game, presumably because the Phils mightn't bring in much cash. The Phils had their day, later, of course, when Lober refused to let the Bums near his spring training diamond for another exhibition fray.

BULLETS FAST ROUNDING INTO SHAPE AT CAMP

With four days of stiff practice under their belts, Gettysburg college's gridders are rapidly rounding into shape at their Laurel Lake training camp.

Despite hot weather which has hampered activity somewhat, Coach "Hen" Bream said that he is "pleased with the progress the club is showing." Fifteen-mile hikes and plenty of wind sprints are rapidly wearing off any excess weight the players may have put on during the summer.

Although there will be no scrimmage until the team returns to Gettysburg next week, Bream is already giving the candidates body contact work. Blocking and tackling take up a sizeable portion of each day's program.

Dress Injured

Only casualty to date is big Paul Dress, husky Harrisburg tackle, who suffered a twisted knee on a hike. The injury is not serious but will probably prevent his getting into shape for the opening game with Western Maryland on October 3. This will probably mean that Ray Rossetti, 215-pounder from Baltimore, will get the nod to fill this berth on opening day.

Most of the positions on the club are wide open, Coach Bream declared, with some of last year's bench warmers making real bids for full time varsity jobs. At present, Bream is working a first string backfield consisting of Al Hart, blocking back; Bill Florsheim, fullback; Jim Hardy, tailback, and "Chuck" Beaver, right half.

On the line, in addition to Rossetti, are Eugene Haas, center; Bill Hartman and Dick Debler, guards; Freddie Schumacher, tackle; Don Roberts and Tony Yovicsin, ends.

Shift Reserves

Several shifts have been made among the reservists to strengthen positions which might otherwise be weak in replacements. Mike Baden, sophomore, who played a backfield spot last year, is now a second-string wingman and shows real possibilities. Ned Linta, another of last year's frosh, has been shifted from a running back to blocking back and will probably fit nicely into the place vacated by Jim Elmsan, now "playing" for Uncle Sam. Tommy Cline, local boy who played end last year, has been moved to center and will probably remain there for the rest of this season.

Little Pat Sets World's Record

Reading, Pa., Sept. 18 (AP)—Little Pat set a world record for pacers over a half mile track at the Reading fair yesterday, winning the free-for-all pacing race in 2:01½ and 2:01¼, the three fastest heats ever recorded.

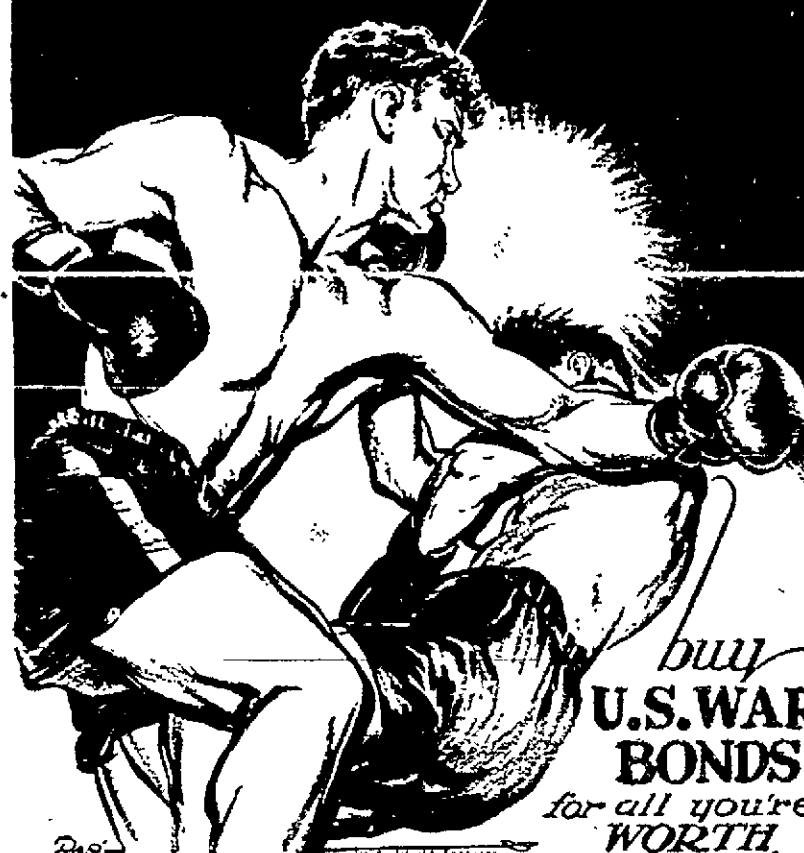

Little Pat, owned by Homer Biery, Butler, Pa., was piloted by Charles Lacey. It was the horse's fifth successive victory in the annual event. Saratoga, owned by T. L. Gustin, Philadelphia, finished a close second in each heat.

Anna S., three-year-old owned by William Howell, Antrim, Pa., scored a three-heat victory over a field of aged horses in the 17 class pacing race. The little filly took the second heat in 2:07, bettering her former record.

The 15 class trotting race went to Olivia Hanover, owned by Alethe Nichols, Indiana, Pa. Frank Young's Plateau won the running race.

World Series Feature How Teams Compare

By DILLON GRAHAM

Wide World Feature

New York, Sept. 18—As these lines are written the Cardinals are the hottest team in baseball. If they outpoint the Dodgers for the National league pennant, what chance have they against the Yankees in the world series?

A good chance, perhaps with better prospects of triumph than the Dodgers would have.

Of course, they're in the midst of a hot streak now, with the flag at stake, while the Yankees, with victory already in the bag, are coasting, and certainly not exerting themselves. The Yanks will be rested and ready to move into high gear again for the series, while the Cardinals or Dodgers will be tired after their gruelling duel and may have difficulty also in getting themselves quickly into fever pitch after the natural let-down that is almost sure to come after the league championship has been clinched.

Yanks Hold Edge

Let's consider the personnel by positions:

Camill of Brooklyn is a longer distance hitter than either Hassett of the Yankees or Hopp of the Cards; he has hit more homers and driven in more runs. However, Dolph was in a slump in mid-September and unless he shakes loose from it, he may be of no more help to the Brooks than he was last year when he came as near as anyone to being the flop of the series. Hopp has played in considerably fewer games than Hassett and has driven in almost as many runs. Defensively, there's not much difference.

The edge at second base definitely goes to Gordon of the Yanks. He'll outthrust Brown of the Cards or Herman of the Dodgers, produce longer blasts and knock in more runs.

At shortstop—Marion, Rizzuto and Reese are all fine fielders. Marion has the best batting average, but Rizzuto has driven in more runs. If there's a superiority at third base it lies with the Cardinals' young rookie, Whitey Kurowski. His excellent play and timely hitting has featured the St. Louis drive. Arky Vaughan of the Brooks has slumped at bat and the ailing Yankee veteran, Red Rolfe, has passed his best days.

Keller Shines

All are strong in left and center field. In left you have Medwick of the Dodgers, Musial or Triplett of the Cards, and Keller of the Yankees. While Keller has the lowest batting average he has hit far more homers and driven in more runs than the others. Medwick is always a dangerous performer, while Musial is one of the rookie dis-

Joe DiMaggio, Yankees — Hit homer with two on in 7-4 victory over Tigers.

Pete Coscarart, Pirates—His single knocked in two runs to beat Dodgers, 3-2.

Harry Gumbert, Cardinals—Forced Ernie Lombardi to ground into double play, with tying runs on base in ninth inning, to end Braves threat and save 6-4 decision.

Roger Wolff, Athletics—White-washed White Sox 1-0 with two hit pitching.

Harry Feldman and Babe Young, Giants—Feldman pitched five-hitter and Young knocked in seven runs with homer and three singles in 11-1 victory over Reds.

Hank Wyse, Cubs—Blanked Phillies 8-0 with eight hits.

DELONE LOSES STAR FOR TILT HERE TONIGHT

Pre-game wailing and moaning is an old trick of football coaches but the despair sounded by Coaches "Jake" Dracha and "Reds" Hartman of Delone Catholic high, who meet the Gettysburg high Maroons here tonight at 8:30 o'clock, seemingly is justified.

The cause of it all is one John Folmer, 185-pound fullback of the Squires, who reported for the final practice at McSherrystown Thursday afternoon with a swelled left hand. Examination revealed he had chipped a bone in his hand and had torn a ligament.

According to Coach Dracha he had centered his offense around Folmer during drills the past week. The husky fullback has been doing much of the kicking, passing and running and is rated as one of the best defensive men Dracha has.

Replacing Folmer tonight will be another husky, Funk, who tips the beams at 175 pounds but who lacks experience.

Hope for Victory

Although bawling the loss of his star one day before the game, Dracha still retains high hopes of upsetting George Forney's charges. "They'll know they were in a game," said Dracha in commenting on his team's chances tonight.

Coaches Forney and Gilbert sent the Maroon outfit through a light workout Thursday winding up a week of stiff workouts. The entire squad is in good physical condition. Delone will have a weight advantage in both the line and backfield. Foremost on the line is Captain Krichen, 205-pound tackle.

One of the largest crowds of the season is expected to attend the game. The gates will open at 7:30 o'clock and the lights will go on at 8 o'clock. The kickoff will be at 8:30 o'clock.

Kent Sterling, Binghamton Triplets southpaw, pitched a one-hit game last night, but he allowed a run, the Triplets bowing in the third game of the Eastern league playoffs as Scranton's Marv Ulrich came up with a three-hit, 1 to 0, shutout.

Sterling didn't allow a bingle till the eighth, when Byam shot a one-base wallop into center field. Scranton's lone tally came in the second inning on two walks, a sacrifice and an infield out.

Scranton now leads the final playoff series, two games to one. The Teas play again tonight at Binghamton, after which they move into Scranton for the fifth game.

URGES POOLING OF GASOLINE; OMIT BRANDS

Pittsburgh, Sept. 18 (AP)—Pooling of the oil industry's facilities—and a consequent elimination of gasoline brands—was advocated by Deputy Petroleum Co-ordinator Ralph K. Davies here in an address at the 40th convention of the National Petroleum Association.

Declaring a "great many separate units of the industry now carry on a practically identical operation with disregard of the fact that capacities are not fully utilized," Davies asserted last night:

"Under the pressure of war conditions, the Office of Petroleum Co-ordinator finds it necessary to ask for cooperative action beyond any points required heretofore." He added:

"If plants and storage are to be shared, it follows inevitably that products must be standardized Frankly, I can see no escape from the suspension of certain brand distinctions during the war period."

Davies said that east coast oil companies had shown "complete readiness" to meet government requests for "joint use of terminals, stock pooling and sharing, combination arrangements designed to eliminate lost motion and waste."

Davies warned that further adjustment of the oil industry, along with nation-wide gasoline rationing as a rubber conservation measure, "portends with certainty a heavy (economic) toll in oil circles." He promised the Office of Petroleum Co-ordinator would try to "hold this casualty list to a minimum, consistent with the controlling necessities of the war program."

Cards Rally And Dodgers Shrink So St. Louis Boosts National Lead To 3 Games

SERIES HOPE FADING AWAY FOR BROOKLYN

By SID FEDER

(By The Associated Press)

Well, children, it looks like you can catch up what's left of the tires on the family bus and head for old St. Leo for your World series fun, and from what's been going on here lately it is no longer so much the Cardinals winning as the Dodgers losing the National league flag.

For, if ever a club looked like it had folded up, the Dodgers from Flatbush did just that yesterday in dropping a 3-2 decision to the Pittsburgh Pirates for their sixth setback in seven games.

What made the Bums seem all the more pathetic was the way the Cards kept right on fighting in Boston and finally won out 6-4 with a five-run blast in the ninth, to go three games in front in the pennant parade.

Lippy Leo Shrinks

At the same instant as the guys from St. Louis were finally getting to Al Javery—after being muffled with five hits for eight frames—three Dodgers were walking meekly up to the plate at Ebbets Field for their ninth-inning "licks" and being retired in order with no more fight than you'll find in a dead chicken.

What's more, needing only one run to tie, Leo the Lip Durocher hardly looked the part of the great master mind in letting Pitcher Max Macon bat for himself to start the inning off. Up to that point, Max hadn't hit a ball out of the infield all afternoon, and he kept his record intact by popping to the catcher.

The net result of these proceedings was to put the Cards in a spot where only a major catastrophe, like the fall of the Bank of England or if Joe Louis should lose his appetite for fried chicken, can keep the Redbirds out of the Senior circuit championship, climaxing one of the sturdiest uphill fights in years. For, not only were they three games in front with only eight to go, but two of these games were on the important "losing side" in the records.

Today's Picture

At the moment, as the Cards headed west to pick up against the Cubs Saturday and the Dodgers tangled with the Phillies today, here was the picture:

With the hot National league shindig still just about the whole show, the chief supporting features of the day saw the New York Yankees win their 100th ball game to break their own record and Tex Hughson join the select "20-game-winners" pitching set.

20 Game Winner

Joe DiMaggio's 20th homer of the season, good for three runs, was the big blow for the Yanks as they knocked off the Detroit Tigers 7-4. This marked the eighth season in which the Bombers had chalked up 100 or more victories, adding one more year to the mark they already had.

Hughson became the first 20-game winner for the Boston Red Sox since the hey-day of Wesley-the-Cheek Ferrell. Tex spread nine hits among the St. Louis Browns without doing his spreading too thickly at any one point, and galloped off with a 5-1 decision.

Believe it or not, the pitching job of the afternoon came out of the Philadelphia Athletics. Young Roger Wolff had Jimmy Dykes moaning in agony as he handcuffed the Chicago White Sox with just two safeties for a 1-0 victory.

Indians Beat Senators

Out in Cleveland, Sid Hudson arrived on the scene in the 11th inning for the Senators just in time to walk home the winning run that gave the Indians a 6 to 5 ball game.

Babe Young, who is no great shucks going after a fly ball, but who knows somewhat more than one-and-one about the chief use for a bat, proved it at the Polo grounds by clouting a homer and three singles and knocking in seven runs to back up Harry Feldman's five-hit fast-balling and give the New York Giants an easy 11-1 win over the Cincinnati Reds.

The Chicago Cubs flied the Phillies 8-0 behind Hank Wyse's eight-hit whitewashing job.

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

Wide World Columnist

New York, Sept. 18 — One thing that has hore-race fans puzzled about the Whirlaway-Alsab match race tomorrow is who's going to be pace setter? . . . Both these goats—beg pardon, equine aristocrats—like to come from behind to win and unless one jockey is willing to take a chance on getting a licking by setting the pace, the affair is liable to be about as exciting as that great mile race a few years back when Cunningham, Venka and Mangan did everything but run backwards to keep from taking the lead. . . . To dress up the race a bit they're calling it the "Narragansett Championship" and instead of having numbers, the starting stalls will have signs "Whirlaway" and "Alsab" over them. . . . When George Halas scouted the Eastern Army All-Star footballers at Baltimore, his only comment was, "They keep coming at you."

BULLETS FAST ROUNDING INTO SHAPE AT CAMP

With four days of stiff practice under their belts, Gettysburg college's gridders are rapidly rounding into shape at their Laurel Lake training camp.

Despite hot weather which has hampered activity somewhat, Coach "Hen" Bream said that he is "pleased with the progress the club is showing." Fifteen-mile hikes and plenty of wind sprints are rapidly wearing off any excess weight the players may have put on during the summer.

Although there will be no scrimmage until the team returns to Gettysburg next week, Bream is already giving the candidates body contact work. Blocking and tackling take up a sizeable portion of each day's program.

Dress Injured

Only casualty to date is big Paul Dress, husky Harrisburg tackle, who suffered a twisted knee on a hike. The injury is not serious but will probably prevent his getting into shape for the opening game with Western Maryland on October 3. This will probably mean that Ray Rossetti, 215-pounder from Baltimore, will get the nod to fill this berth on opening day.

Most of the positions on the club are wide open, Coach Bream declared, with some of last year's bench warmers making real bids for full time varsity jobs. At present, Bream is working a first string backfield consisting of Al Hart, blocking back; Bill Florsheim, fullback; Jim Hardy, tailback, and "Chuck" Beaver, right half.

On the line, in addition to Rossetti, are Eugene Haas, center; Bill Hartman and Dick Debler, guards; Freddie Schumacher, tackle; Don Roberts and Tony Yovisic, ends.

Shift Reserves

Several shifts have been made among the reservists to strengthen positions which might otherwise be weak in replacements. Mike Baden, sophomore, who played a backfield spot last year, is now a second-string wingman and shows real possibilities. Ned Linta, another of last year's frosh, has been shifted from a running to blocking back and will probably fit nicely into the place vacated by Jim Elsmann, now "playing" for Uncle Sam. Philadelphia, Sept. 18 (AP)—Teddy Roosevelt has a niche in America's new football hall of fame. The Robert W. Other niches go to Knute Rockne and Walter Camp, often called the father of football, who was famous for his all-American teams.

Phils Seek Revenge In Series With Brooklyn

By JACK SMITH

Philadelphia, Sept. 18 (AP)—That feud between the cellar-dwelling Phils and the almost-mighty Dodgers is cropping up again—and don't be surprised if the lowly fellows blast the Bums' last glimmering hopes for the National league pennant in the series opening in Brooklyn today.

They're not talking about it publicly, but it's common knowledge here that Manager Hans Lober's much-smearred losers are still ranked by the "slight," as they called it which they suffered at the hands of Larry MacPhail last spring. MacPhail called off a Phils-Dodgers exhibition game, presumably because the Phils mightn't bring in much cash. The Phils had their day, later, of course, when Lober refused to let the Bums near his spring training diamond for another exhibition fray.

THE WAR TODAY

WIDE WORLD WAR ANALYST
Special Ambassador Wendell Willkie, who is now in Russia, would achieve a notable contribution to United Nations victory if he could find some way of breaking through a Muscovite reserve which at times forms a really formidable barrier to close cooperation with the other allies.

What I'm getting at is that the Russians in many instances are maintaining such a close-minded attitude about details of the war effort that Uncle Sam and John Bull often find difficulty in figuring just what the situation is. For instance, I believe you'd have to search hard to find an American or British staff officer who claimed to know just what the Red military position has been during the crucial fighting in the Caucasus this summer.

Need Details

Now such a lack of information makes it difficult for Russia's allies to know exactly what cooperation is needed in specific cases. No general staff is going to fling its forces into action blindly.

Of course, the Russians are by nature people of action and not too many words. Premier Stalin, one of the outstanding leaders of our time, is such a notable example of this characteristic that he sometimes is referred to as the sphinx of Moscow.

Still, the thing cuts a good deal deeper than that. There have been signs that Moscow might not have complete confidence in her allies. If there is such lack, the situation hasn't been helped any by the feeling in at least some circles in Russia that the United States and Britain could have done more in the matter of opening a second-front. Unfortunately, this suspicion must have been strengthened by the demand for a second front from uninformed and ill-advised people in both America and Britain.

Fearful Communism

But it strikes me that we have to look even further back to find the basic reason why the Muscovites play their cards so close to their chests that even their friends can't klibitz. For the greater part of the past quarter century the Soviet Union stood apart among the nations of the world because of the almost universal hostility towards the political doctrine of communism.

So the Reds hoed their own row, and nothing was more natural than that they should build a mighty barrier about themselves to the exclusion of a world which was fearful of Bolshevism. The secrecy which surrounded Russia, and still does, is one of the amazing phases of history, for the outside world has known little of what went on within her borders.

Proof of this lies in Hitler's misjudgment of the Soviet military strength. That wasn't strange, however, for as I have mentioned before in this column, when I toured eastern Europe just after Munich, I was told in every capital that Russia was impotent militarily, and couldn't wage war. The secret services of Germany and the other European countries are among the most formidable in the world. And yet even they couldn't penetrate the Red wall of secrecy.

Must Dispel Feeling

It is understandable that under such circumstances Moscow should still be reticent in disclosing its affairs to the world. At the same time there seems to be no reason why this feeling shouldn't be dispelled, since it isn't due to any lack of desire to fulfill the obligations of the alliance to the end.

Proof of the Russian willingness to die for the cause is before us in the magnificent defense of Stalingrad. Proof of the barrier of secrecy also is seen in the same line as a lone sloop, for Russia's allies don't know even in this crisis just what reserve power the Red army may be able to produce.

So there, Mr. Willkie, is a grand opportunity for you.

U.S. SUBS TAKE BIG JAP TOLL

Washington, Sept. 18 (AP)—The toll taken by United States submarines on Japan's western Pacific supply lines was raised today to 107 ships sunk or damaged with the Navy's report that four enemy ships were destroyed and four others struck by torpedoes.

The Navy's latest communiqué announced that the American undersea campaign recently sent two large freighters, a medium sized tanker and a small patrol boat to the bottom of the Pacific.

In addition, last night's communiqué added, a large tanker was torpedoed and left ablaze and a large freighter, a large transport and a medium sized cargo ship were damaged.

The operations, the Navy said, were limited to the continuing campaigns in the Solomon and Aleutian Islands.

The announced total of 107 Japanese ships sunk or damaged since the war started was viewed in naval circles as a severe blow to the island empire's maintaining vital supply lines to her mandated bases and outposts in the Philippines and Micronesia. Thirty-two of the vessels were total wrecks of various types.

ENROLLS AT WILSON

Miss Marion Thomas, of Biglerville, is among the young women who will enroll Saturday as members of the new class at Wilkeson College in Chambersburg. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Thomas, of Biglerville and prepared for college at the Biglerville high school.

Mrs. Bream is employed at the Knouse Corporation, Peach Glen. Private Bream is stationed with the U. S. Army Air Corps at Keesler Field, Mississippi.

EXPECT DEFEAT ON PARITY BILL

Washington, Sept. 18 (AP)—Congressional farm leaders conceded today they were likely to lose their efforts to force an upward revision of agricultural parity price formulas in legislation designed to give President Roosevelt broad controls over the cost of living.

Senator Bankhead (D-Ala.), who has urged that wages of farm labor be considered among the factors determining how much the producer ought to receive for his crops, said he feared the Senate Banking committee would reject any amendment changing the basis for parity.

"We won't get it over the President's opposition," he told reporters. The President wrote Chairman Wagner (D-NY) of the Senate committee and Chairman Steagall (D-Ala.) of the House committee yesterday expressing "unalterable opposition" to any change in the method of computing parity, which is a price level calculated to give farmers a return equal to that of a past favorable period, usually 1909-14.

He was promptly joined in this opposition by Secretary of Agriculture Wickard and Price Administrator Leon Henderson, both of whom said any change would tend to increase the cost of living.

Set Dates For 3 Damage Hearings

Dates for the first three hearings in the eight damage claim cases resulting from the re-location of the Western Maryland railroad lines east of here last year have been set for next week. Dates for hearings in the other cases will be set next week.

On Tuesday a hearing will be conducted by a court appointed board of viewers in the claim by Edgar Weaver and his wife. Another board will hear the claim of Lillia and Margaret Otto on the following day and on Thursday the case of Ellis R. and Z. Blanche Miller is listed. All of the hearings will take place in the law library at the court house. Each hearing is scheduled for 10 a. m.

Arendtsville Scrap Collection Monday

Charles Smith, head of the Arendtsville salvage committee, announced today that the collection of salvage in Arendtsville and vicinity will be held next Monday evening.

Beginning at 5:30 o'clock trucks, manned by boys, will tour the area collecting the materials. Residents are requested to have all salvage ready and placed at a convenient place for collection.

The first fall dinner meeting of the Sorority club of Gettysburg will be held next Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the Blue Parrot tea room with Miss Dorothy M. Warner, supervisor of special education in Adams county, as the guest speaker.

Leander Martin, York street, was arrested Thursday afternoon by Borough Officer Charles W. Culp on a disorderly conduct charge which has been filed before Justice of the Peace John H. Baschore. The defendant was committed to jail for a later hearing before the local justice.

William Dubbs, Delap avenue, has been released from the county jail under $500 bond for his appearance this evening at 6 o'clock before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder. Dubbs was arrested Thursday by borough police for the theft of $10 from a National Garage cash register.

Mrs. Hershell Fortney, Gettysburg R. 5, Mrs. Theodore Ridenour, Thurmont, and Mrs. Ralph Starnes, Gardner R. 2, have been admitted as patients to the Warner hospital. Discharges included Raymond P. Weaver, Fourth street, and Mrs. Joseph Stevens and infant daughter, Virginia Ellen, South Washington street.

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENTS

Mr. and Mrs. Hershell Fortney, Gettysburg R. 5, announce the birth of a daughter at the Warner hospital today.

GREW WARNS U.S. JAPAN IS TOUGH ENEMY

Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 18 (AP)—Describing Japan as our most formidable enemy, far tougher than Germany, former Ambassador Joseph C. Grew told a war rally luncheon here today that the Germans cracked in 1918 and they will crack again, but the Japanese will fight until they are utterly crushed.

Grew, who was an American diplomat in Berlin in 1917 and American ambassador in Tokyo in 1941, indicated he was profoundly shocked to hear people in this country talk as if Germany in time would be defeated "and then we'll mop up the Japs."

He agreed with those who believe German morale will not survive a series of setbacks. But he added, in a prepared speech broadcast over the NBC network:

"The Japanese will not crack. They will not crack morally or psychologically or economically, even when eventual defeat stares them in the face... only by utter physical destruction or utter exhaustion of their men and materials can they be defeated."

"That," he said, "is the difference between the Germans and the Japanese. That is what we are up against in fighting Japan."

It is difficult for Americans who have never lived in Japan, Grew continued, to form any conception of the overweening confidence of the Japanese Army and Navy in their ability to subjugate not only large areas of Asia but of the Western hemisphere, too.

"You realize that the Japanese are already in the Aleutian Islands, don't you?" he asked. "Not far from Alaska... I mention it merely as a concrete indication of what the armed forces of Japan hope to do, and what they intend to do—and what they will do if they can. First to bomb important American centers and then more eventually, invade America."

Military Might

"And let us not allow ourselves to be lulled into thinking that these hopes are merely pipe dreams, impossible of fulfillment. The Japanese may seem to us fantastic and, at times, barbarians. But in building their army they have been extremely practical and level-headed, forging a military nation which today must be recognized as one of the most formidable in the world."

The Japanese have trained long and arduously for full-scale modern war, Grew pointed out, and have made a specialty of following the "impossible" route to their objective.

Illustrating the fanatical, uncompromising sternness of this spirit, Grew told how he once received from the Chinese government the name of a Japanese who had been taken prisoner in China and who wished to let his family in Japan know he was alive and well. The ambassador communicated this information to the government in Tokyo, which replied that it "was not interested in receiving such information. So far as they, the government, were concerned, and also so far as his own family was concerned, that man was officially dead."

The man who allows himself to be captured has disgraced himself and his country."

Not Invulnerable
Despite this fanatical "victory or death" spirit among the Japanese, despite their formidable equipment, their years of practical experience in warfare and their spectacular successes, the Japanese empire is by no means invulnerable. It has its weak points too, Grew said.

Chief among these are the continued existence of strong Allied positions on the flanks of the far-flung fringe of Japanese outposts in the Pacific, and the fact that communications and transport between these widely separated positions "must be carried on very largely by water."

CATERPILLAR

references to individual Red Army men who slew 10 to 12 Germans and to single machinegun crews which accounted for as many as 40. A detachment fighting from behind ruined brick walls was credited with the destruction of seven Nazi tanks and the slaughter of 200 troops.

The Germans attacked in a familiar pattern. Squads of automatic rifle men, hunched low and running, moved up first in an effort to cut through and disrupt defenses from the rear. Tanks and motorized infantry followed them. Overhead, planes dumped bombs, on knots of Soviet resistance.

Streams of bullets whined and ricocheted through the streets and the defenders were forced back for a time, but they rebounded to oust the invaders at bayonet point, yard by yard and house by house.

The Russians were backed down tree-lined avenues to cliffs overlooking the Volga waterfront at one time. With preceptors behind them and tanks before them, they organized their counterattack in a supreme effort to save the great economic center from the Germans.

Upper Communities

The names of the following members of the congregation of Trinity Lutheran church, Arendtsville, appeared on the roll of honor at the dedication of a service flag presented by the members of the church Sunday morning: The Rev. George H. Berkheimer, the church pastor who is serving with the armed forces in Australia, Williams Allison, Jr., Lee Carey, Lester Carey, Robert Carey, Ralph Cooley, Wayne Criswell, Blair Fissel, Jesse Fissel, Ray Flickinger, John Funt, Herman Hartman, John W. Lupp, John Miller, Paul I. Orner, Ralph R. Stum, Francis Thomas, Jr. and Donald Wampler.

The Rev. H. D. Hoover, of Gettysburg, who is the church's guest minister, preached on the theme "Sacrifice That Blesses."

Mr. and Mrs. John Albert, of Biglerville, were visitors to York, Wednesday.

Dean Fink and John Flury, of Biglerville, spent Thursday at the York fair.

Mrs. Carl Hildebrand, accompanied by her daughters, Clara Lou and Lola Ann, of York, are spending several days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Roth, of Biglerville.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Burkhardt and son have moved from Mrs. Maud Walter's property on High street to the property of Mrs. Mabel Thomas on West York street, Biglerville.

The Friendship class of Trinity Bender's Evangelical and Reformed Sunday school, Biglerville, donated $2 to the Biglerville fund for soldiers' kits at its monthly meeting held Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. Roy Lawver with the president, Miss Mildred Osborn, presiding. The October meeting of the club will be held at the home of Mrs. Earl Fohl.

PFC Donald Wentz, Keesler Field, Mississippi, is spending a 12-day furlough with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Wentz, Biglerville.

Bruce Taylor and son, Carl, Blaine, G. Walter and Roy Himes, Biglerville, visited at New Cumberland Thursday evening and learned Mr. Taylor's son, Ralph, had already been sent to a camp.

The Peter Pan Players Dramatic club of Biglerville high school held its opening fall meeting Thursday evening at the high school building. The program was in charge of the initiation committee, Dean Carey and Donald Nary, who conducted an informal initiation of three new members, Martha Hollabaugh, Theodore Slaybaugh and Guenther Slusser.

The regular meeting followed in the library of the school at which time plans were made for the nine meetings which will be held during the year. Places were also designated for the meetings. The club decided to attend the presentation of "The Corn Is Green," starring Ethel Barrymore, at Hershey, October 13. Each member of the club is now reading a play, a resume of which will be given at the next meeting. Three members will then be appointed as a committee to choose the play to be given as the first presentation of the club this year.

Vivian Rebert, president, presided at the meeting at which George Reisinger, the faculty advisor, was present. The club adjourned for refreshments at Bucher's restaurant.

French Star Weds Dominican Official

Vichy, Sept. 18 (AP)—Danielle Darrieux, French movie actress, was married today to Porfirio Rubirosa, Dominican Charge D'Affaires in Vichy.

Witnesses of the ceremony, performed by the mayor of Vichy, were Mrs. Douglas MacArthur, 2d. wife of the second secretary of the United States embassy, and Souza Dantes, the Brazilian ambassador. (MacArthur is General MacArthur's nephew.)

Both were divorced previously. Miss Darrieux's divorce from her director-husband Henry Decoin was announced in Paris Feb. 20, 1941.

Countian Faces Code Violation

Earl W. McClear, Biglerville R. 2, has been charged with a stop sign violation as a result of police investigation of an automobile collision which occurred Thursday evening about 6 o'clock at the intersection of North Washington and West Water streets. The investigation was made and the charge was filed by Borough Officer Charles W. Culp before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder.

The other car involved in the mishap was operated by Charles Weikert, Gettysburg taxi driver. No one was hurt in the crash and damage totaled about $15.

LEGION MEETING

Officers for the coming year will be elected at the regular meeting of the members of the Albert J. Lentz post No. 202 of the American Legion to be held Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the Legion home on Baltimore street. Refreshments are to be served after the meeting.

Harrisburg, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Dauphin county court today refused to withhold certification of the nomination of John W. Murphy as the democratic candidate for Congress pending a decision by the State Supreme court on his right to a place on the ballot at the November election.

Washington, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Office of Price Administration today issued a double-barreled order aimed at maintaining quality of shoes in any given line over which price ceilings have been placed. In the first place, OPA prescribed that new style in a line of shoes shall be the highest price charged during March, 1942, for any style in that line.

Hartford, Conn., Sept. 18 (AP)—Katharine Hepburn, stage and screen actress, was divorced today by her husband, Ogden Ludlow, of Alexandria, Va., in Superior court here. Judge Patrick B. O'Sullivan rendered judgment for the plaintiff on the grounds of desertion.

Washington, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Office of Defense Transportation today coordinated bus service between Harrisburg, Pa., and New York city, in an order involving the equipment of six transportation companies.

Effective October 5, the companies must stagger their schedules, permit interchange of tickets, use terminals jointly wherever possible, and eliminate excursion rates. Schedules were frozen as of August 5.

Thursday to suggest ways county leaders can speed up the current Pennsylvania scrap collection campaign.

The first session—for Lebanon, Lancaster, York, Adams, Franklin, Cumberland, Perry, Juniata, Dauphin and Mifflin counties—will be followed a day later by a similar meeting in Wilkes-Barre.

State Highway department trucks will be used in every county to collect material collected in the September 15 to 30 drive to find 3,000,000 tons of scrap. The state council of defense said use of the trucks "will solve a transportation problem and should result in a thorough clean-up of the farms of the state."

Organize Pupils

Dr. Francis B. Haas, state superintendent of Public Instruction, announced all Pennsylvania school officials have been directed to organize pupils in a "salvage for victory" drive starting October 5.

Meanwhile, Colley S. Baker, secretary of the State Defense Council's Salvage committee, disclosed 18 of the 67 counties have collected 4,252 tons of iron and steel since Tuesday. The county figures: Lehigh, 1,312; Lycoming, 962; Montgomery 475; Carbon 130; Clinton 33; Columbia 60; Dauphin 44; Delaware 33; Elk 38; Fayette 100; Lancaster 425; McKean 37; Mercer 96; Northumberland 96; Potter 18; Union 51 and Washington 98.

35-Mile Speed Limit Evokes Mixed Reaction In State

JUDGE HUGHES,
HEAD OF P.M.F.
FAVORS ACTION

BY WILLIAM G. SMOCK

Harrisburg, Sept. 18 (AP)—Motor club officials express mixed reaction to Governor James' disclosure that he is searching for a way to limit highway speed to 35-miles an hour through reckless driving provisions of the vehicle code.

Aiming at compliance with President Roosevelt's request for a 35-mile an hour top to conserve gasoline and tires, James said he was looking for "a peace tire tool" to lower the now legal speed limit of 50 miles.

New Jersey's governor, Charles Edison, yesterday invoked his wartime emergency powers to fix 35 miles an hour as the maximum speed in his state. Forty miles was the previous general legal maximum with 45 permitted in posted zones.

Cites Speed Law

In Pennsylvania, however, it was understood that the attorney general had ruled out issuance of an executive order because of the speed law.

In Washington, Pa., Judge Howard
Hughes, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, said the American Automobile association
with which his group is affiliated "already is on record as approving the Baruch report." Bernard Baruch, member of a committee studying the rubber situation, has recommended a 35-mile an hour limit.

"Any action to support it (the Baruch report's) aims has our hearty approval," Judge Hughes declared.

Lewis W. McIntyre, executive vice president of the Pittsburgh Motor club, said: "I think the Governor is too good a judge to attempt to evade
the constitutional law. The American people are quite willing to comply voluntarily, and this business of making people do something is of foreign origin."

Reckless Driving

In Harrisburg, a motor club official who asked that his name be withheld, said he doubted that a 35-mile limit would be legal. He added:
"In many courts in Pennsylvania, a reckless driving charge has had to be sustained by evidence that someone's life or property was endangered."

The state's motor code says reckless drivers include "any person who drives any vehicle upon a highway carelessly and wilfully, or wantonly disregarding the rights or safety of others, or in a manner so as to endanger any person or property."

In Delaware, Governor Walter W.
Bacon has advised drivers to hold their cars to 35 miles an hour. He also asked driving be limited to essential purposes.

Crewmen of the crippled U.S. aircraft carrier Yorktown, which later went to the bottom of the Pacific, slide down the sides to small boats, which transferred them to rescue vessels, including the destroyer at the right. The Yorktown was damaged in the defeat of Japanese forces which attacked Midway Island.

GOOD NEWS FOR CHILDHOOD
Christmas toys will be as brightly
colored as ever next Christmas,
the war notwithstanding.—Washington dispatch.

Whatever else the war may stop
And Germans steal from people
free,
Still red will be the humming top
And brightly colored drums will be.
Still little children will awake
On Christmas morn to countless joys,
For even Hitler cannot take
The splendor of their Christmas toys.

The Germans may with force and fire
The relics of the past destroy;
May level every temple spire,
But cannot crush a Christmas toy.
In spite of hate and lust for power,
And greed and madness these remain:
The gladness of the Christmas hour,
The brightly painted sled and train.

Though ancient glories fall and fade
And what has been will be no more,
Though armies lie in ambushade And slaughter stains both sea and shore;
Though people mad world-wide appear,
'Tis good to know let come what may,
In spite of death and dismal fear,

THE GALLERY OF THE MIND

It is fine that there are scattered,
all over this interesting earth, public galleries of art and beauty that have enriched the ones who created them all, and at the same time, opened up a new world to inquiring and anxious minds.

I have often walked through these galleries and watched the expression on different people's faces,
to get the reaction. I have noted that the poorer classes seem to be the most appreciative. Perhaps this is because there is aroused a deeper desire to emulate the work of those who have created. Like the hungry man, who appreciates food so much more than the one who has never known hunger.

I wish, however, to talk about another gallery—the Gallery of the Mind. Each of us has stored, and exhibited there, pictures that we have painted and placed there. To look into such a mind—even though that gallery may be invisible—is to discover an artist in many a case
—for each of us hangs something upon the walls of our mind!

How often we hear the expression: He has a clean mind. How do we know? It's from the talk, or life, that he leads. In like manner we may say: His mind is filled with beauty, with pictures of everything that he has seen and loved.
It is easy to tell what a man or woman has put into the gallery of his or her mind. You will know in a very short time after a meeting
—even though unconsciously.

It costs nothing to build such a gallery, and to put pictures there,
yet no amount of wealth could present to a mind, such treasures as there are displayed!

I have sat before men who have painted pictures of the Orient, of the Indies, of Africa, of South America, of the great men and women whom they have met and known—and what they made me
see is what they had already put into that gallery of their mind—and were merely exhibiting in word pictures to me.

It is important that we see everything that pleases the eye, so that

New York (AP)—Who's that squeaking on the floor? It may be noisy, but it's fashionable.

JUST US 'POSSUMS!

Midville, Ga. (AP)—When Mayor
C. Archer Jackson went to his chicken coop to investigate some strange noises, he saw what appeared to be a piece of rope hanging from the coop door. The rope moved. He grabbed it—and found he had a 'possum by the tail.

MONEY TALKS

Seattle, Wash. (AP)—Harold

were asked today by the state council to cut down "an excessive number" of telephone preliminary warnings of air raid drills.

LETTERS TO THE ED
The Gettysburg Times,
Dear Sirs:

Johnny Doughboy in Hawaii

We come from the hills of Pennsylvania, from the deep south, from the middle west and from the sunny shores of California. We, who once worked in offices, on farms and operated filling stations. We have covered a lot of ground since those days.

Most of us have seen eight months of foreign service. The Hawaiian sun has turned us to a bronze color.
The natives gave us a hardy welcome and are getting accustomed to us being around. They are doing everything to make us feel at home.

The boys seem to enjoy The Gettysburg Times as much as I do. I want to thank your staff for the kind service that your paper is rendering to all the boys in the armed forces.

Will say "aloha." That means until we meet again.

The Gettysburg Times,
Dear Sirs:

I had been attending tank school here at Fort Knox, Kentucky for eight weeks.

Before I came to Fort Knox I was in Camp Bowie, Texas. But after I was at school they transferred me to the 8th Armored Division here.

The weather here is nice but we did not have much rain this summer.

Letters To The Editor

The Gettysburg Times, Gettysburg, Penna.

Gentlemen:

I should like to take this opportunity to thank you for sending me
the Gettysburg Times. It is a pleasure to be able to keep up to read the home news as well as to read the articles on current world events and other news items which appear in your paper.

I find Army life is not at all as it had been pictured to me before my induction. In fact it is a very healthy life and not so tough as most outsiders believe.

Several weeks ago I became bugler of the anti-tank company. This company is a special unit of the infantry and is entirely mechanized.
Our duties are also different from the other infantry units.

Again let me thank you for your generosity in sending me your paper.
Sincerely yours,
PVT. JAMES L. RUTH,
Camp Forrest,
Tennessee

The Gettysburg Times,
Dear Sirs:

I will write you a line to let you know I have been transferred to this field to go to a school of airplane mechanics.

I appreciate you sending me the paper very much. I got it every day in St. Petersburg, Florida. A lot of boys read it that come from other places and like it too.

My new address will be as follows:
PVT. DONALD E. KEMPER, Barracks 3, Block 2,
Fit. B. T.S.S. 630, Gulfport Field, Gulfport, Miss.

Politics

Harrisburg, Sept. 18 (AP)—State
Senator M. Harvey Taylor, Pennsylvania Republican chairman, sees in the Democratic November election platform a "smokescreen" for "another unwholesome raid on state government."

At Lock Haven, Adjutant General
Edward Martin, Republican gubernatural nominee, accused the opposition party's platform of "bad faith" in promising to cut taxes by the specific sum of $100,000. He said
"no living man can force conditions a year or even six months from now." Republicans have promised tax cuts "when and where such reductions are possible."

In a statement, Taylor asserted Auditor General F. Clair Ross, Democratic candidate for governor, is standing on a platform the Republican leader described as "a noisy excursion to nowhere." Taylor added Ross' "brazen statement that the election of General Martin would result in a government of fraud and deceit is the mystical bleating of a man who knows he faces certain defeat."

ELECTROCUTED

Pittsburgh, Sept. 18 (AP)—Auditor
General F. Clair Ross, Democratic candidate for Governor, will give the principal address at a rally
opening his Allegheny county campaign tonight. Other speakers scheduled include Mayor Cornelius
D. Scully of Pittsburgh and Judge
Ralph H. Smith of Pittsburgh, who was beaten by Ross for the gubernatural nomination.

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 18 (AP)— Anthony Kashura, 15, fell 60 feet to the ground from a utility pole last night after touching a high tension wire. He was killed instantly.

The Dutch introduced the principle of enemy port blockades in about 1584.

The bayonet is said to have been invented at Bayonne, France, in

GE PRESIDENT
HEADS BOARD
ON PRODUCTION

Washington, Sept. 18 (AP)—The task of assembling the jig-saw pieces of the war production picture for a twice-a-week scrutiny of armed services' needs fell today to a newly created production committee headed by Charles E. Wilson, president of the General Electric company.

The committee was created by the War Production Board last night
and charred, Chairman Donald M.
Nelson said, with "seeing to it that programs and schedules for all phases of our war effort are met."

In effect, another WPB source explained, the new unit obtains a position from which the entire war production picture can be surveyed continually to perceive the diversified needs of the Army, the Air Force, Navy and the Maritime Commission.

Regular Check-Ups
Twice each week, the committee will bring together the military agencies, the Maritime Commission
and WPB for a check-up of war production. Extra sessions may be called when necessary.

Wilson, who will serve on a dollar-a-week basis as vice chairman of WPB, will have opportunity,
WPB said, to contact responsible heads of the fighting forces and the Maritime Commission to get up-to-the minute information on the needs of each agency and the overall supply situation for meeting those needs.

Serving with Wilson are Lieut.
Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, commanding general of the Army services of supply; Maj. Gen. Oliver P.
Echols, commanding general of the material command, Army Airforce
Headquarters; Vice Admiral Samuel
M. Robinson, Navy director of material and procurement, and Rear
Admiral Howard L. Vickery, vice chairman of the Maritime Commission.

Germans Do More Reprisal Shooting

London, Sept. 18 (AP)—A Reuters dispatch from Istanbul today quoted Belgrade reports that the Germans had shot all male inhabitants of four Yugoslav villages and sent the women and children to concentration camps in reprisal for the blowing up of a German military train.

The train, carrying troops and war supplies, was blown up by Serbian irregulars on September 10, it was stated, and many young officers on their way to reinforce Marshal Rommel's Africa Corps were killed.

ALLIES BOMB BENGASI PORT

Cairo, Sept. 18 (AP)—Allied heavy bombers made a daylight attack yesterday on the Axis supply port of Bengasi, more than 500 miles west of the Egyptian battlefield, scoring hits on two ships and setting one afire, a British communique announced today.

At the same time, the bulletin said, British fighters were active over the battle area, shooting down at least two enemy aircraft and damaging many others. One British plane failed to return to base.

There have been no activities on the land front except for patrol skirmishes and artillery exchanges, the communique said.

(The Italian command announced that an Italian submarine had been lost in war operations.

("Enemy planes dropped a great number of high explosive and incendiary bombs on the town of Bengasi, causing limited damage to some houses," the high command said.

(Three persons were reported killed and several wounded.

(Axis fighter planes and anti-aircraft shells were declared to have shot down seven British fighters.)

Canning And Drying Corn

Fresh corn . . . on the cob or off cobs, a spotlight all its own at any meal, from a picnic to a formal dinner. Almost everyone likes corn, and there is plenty of it these summer days—crisp and fresh, straight from the fields.

But not so far away is colder weather, when fresh vegetables will be a thing of the past for the time being. If we want corn then, we have to make preparation now—while we can still get it newly picked and just right for storing.

Canning and drying are two ways to put up corn for future use. Here are some pointers from home economists, U. S. Department of Agriculture on just how to follow through with these methods.

Canning Corn—Whole Grain Style
Use only freshly gathered corn, with husks green and kernels tender and full of milky juice.

"Two hours from garden to can" is a good rule to follow with sweet corn for canning. The sugar in corn begins turning to starch as soon as the ear leaves the stalk. And in hot weather especially, other changes can take place that may make canned corn difficult to keep if the corn stands around very long before it is put up. Can it quickly, and keep it cool until you do.

When you are ready to can, shuck and silk the corn and cut it from the cob—deeply enough to take off most of the kernels without removing the hulls too. Do not scrape the cobs for whole-grain style canned corn.

Put the corn in a kettle. Add 1 teaspoon of salt for each quart of corn, and half as much boiling water as the corn by weight. The amount of water needed will be about 2 cups to a quart of corn.

Heat to boiling, and then pack hot into glass jars or tin cans. Be sure to leave head space when packing—1 inch for glass jars and ½ inch for tin cans. Head space is necessary so the corn will have room to expand during processing.

Tin cans for home canning are scarce this year because of the need for tin and steel plate for war. If you do can corn in tin, however, be sure the cans have a C-enamel lining. Corn in plain tin cans turns dark—not that the dark color is dangerous to health but it makes the corn look unappetizing.

Once the hot corn is packed into glass or tin containers, lose no time in getting it into the pressure canner.

And, above all, process canned corn under steam pressure, in a regular pressure canner. It is not safe to try to can corn in a boiling water bath or in the oven. Corn is starchy; heat penetrates it slowly. And corn must be thoroughly processed to the center of the jar to kill the bacteria that may make it spoil.

So, to play safe, process corn at 240° F. or 10 pounds pressure. Processing time is as follows: 60 minutes for pint glass jars, 70 minutes for quart glass jars, 50 minutes for No. 2 tin cans, and 65 minutes for No. 3 tin cans.

Then cool the corn thoroughly and store in a cool, dry place—a dark one, too, for glass jars. "Flat sour" can easily develop in home-canned corn not cooled quickly enough or stored in too warm a place.

Drying Corn for Storage
Drying is an old method of keeping summer's sweet corn for winter's eating. In recent years it has given way to a great extent to canning.

But wartime brings a shortage of canning equipment, and so again homemakers are turning to drying as a way to conserve food. You can dry corn either by controlled heat or by the warmth of the sun.

Use any good table corn, gathered when it is in good condition for immediate eating. As in the case of canning, plan to use it right away—do not let it stand for any length of time before drying.

First, husk the corn and remove any blemishes. You do not need to silk it, however, because the silks separate easily from the kernels after they are dried.

Then steam the corn for 10 minutes, or hold it in boiling water from 8 to 12 minutes—or until the milk is "set." The milk is set when no fluid comes from the kernels when you cut across them.

If you steam the corn, you will find a pressure cooker ideal for this purpose. Put a small amount of water in the cooker, heat to a rapid boil, and steam the corn by placing it in a wire basket or colander set above the water level. Keep the cooker covered and the petcock open while the corn is steaming. If you do not have a pressure cooker, use a steamer or any large kettle or deep container having a tight fitting cover.

When through steaming or boiling the corn, drain it, cool it, and cut from the cob.

If you have some way to dry the corn by controlled heat you will find this method much quicker than sun drying. If you have a drier, or can make one, spread the kernels on trays ½ to ¾ inches deep and dry the corn at 130° to 140° F. Stir while drying, to separate the grains.

Whether or not you use a thermometer to keep check on the drying process, you can learn by feeling the food whether or not it is drying satisfactorily. It should be moist to the touch and cooler than the air flowing over it. If it is just about at air temperature and not moist to the touch, it is drying too fast.

Sort Corn Carefully
Properly dried corn is hard, brittle, and semi-transparent. The kernels break cleanly when crushed.

When you take the corn from the drier, sort it over carefully. If there are any kernels that show signs of moisture put them back in the drier. Also if you are not sure that the corn as a whole has dried sufficiently, keep it in the drier a little longer, but with the temperature lowered.

Seal the dried corn immediately in moisture-proof containers and store in a cool, dark, dry place. Examine them once in a while. If you see any signs of moisture, reheat the corn to 165° F. and reseal in the containers.

As a precaution against insects you can return all foods to the drier just before storing them, or at any other time that seems necessary, and reheat for 10 to 15 minutes at a temperature from 165° to 180° F.

If you do not have means of drying corn by controlled heat you can sun-dry it—providing the weather in your locality permits.

Speed is necessary in putting up corn by the sun-drying method as well as by the controlled heat method. Work quickly from garden to storage.

Corn can be dried on an outdoor shelf, a roof slanting to the south, or racks in sunny windows.

Spread small lots on clean boards, heavy wrapping paper, canvas, cheesecloth, or clean flour or feed sacks held in place by laths. Wire trays or screens, or slat trays covered with thin cloth are even better because they let air circulate under the drying corn as well as over it.

Stir the corn two or three times each day while it is drying. Take it in at night, and whenever rain is expected.

Pack just as you would pack corn in a regular drier.

FEW NEW TIRES, MANY RECAPS IN NEW RATION LIST

The War Price and Rationing Board No. 2 for Gettysburg and western Adams county announced today a list of persons to whom permits have been issued for 199 recapped tires for passenger cars, 27 new tires for passenger cars, five obsolete tires, 30 recaps for trucks and two for agricultural implements. A total of 84 tubes also are covered in the list.

One new bicycle also has been issued to Ruth C. Stover, Gettysburg, and will be used by her in riding to work.

The only first grade tires for passenger cars included in the list go to Walter S. Swisher, Gettysburg R. 3, a rural mail carrier; John H. Knox, Gettysburg R. 3, for the transportation of farm products and to Miles A. Biesecker, Cash-town, for the transportation of materials.

New Truck Tires

New tires and tubes for trucks have been issued to the following for the transportation of farm products, materials for construction, fuel and as common carriers and school bus operators:

Olmer Spence, Orrtanna; Earl D. Blocher, Fairfield; Paul Strausbaugh, Gettysburg; Oliver J. Heacock, Biglerville; William J. Kimpfe, Orrtanna; Penn Tire Works Co., Aspers; John H. Knox, Gettysburg R. 3; E. C. McDannell, Biglerville; J. I. Hereter & Son, Gettysburg; Leroy Zeigler, Gettysburg R. 3; George W. Weaver, Bendersville; Fred Naugle, Orrtanna.

Truck Recaps

Two obsolete truck tires go to Guy Seiferd, Fairfield, for a school bus. The following have been granted recaps for truck tires and new tubes for highway repair work, transportation of farm products, mechanical maintenance work and raw materials:

E. L. Rentzel, Gettysburg; B. B. Wertz, Fairfield; Howard Weikert, Fairfield; Gettysburg Gas Corp., Gettysburg; Olmer Spence, Orrtanna R. 1; Daniel L. Yingling, Gettysburg R. 1; Quigley Hafer, Seven Stars; C. A. Hartman, Cashtown; C. M. Wolf, Gettysburg; E. W. Hartman, Cashtown; Harry S. Stoner, Orrtanna R. 1; Roy Heckenluber, Biglerville R. 1.

Two recaps have been granted Harry Luckenbaugh, Gettysburg R. 1, for farm implements.

New grade 2 tires and new tubes for passenger cars have been issued to the following for the transportation of employees and farm products:

Robert B. Denlinger, Gettysburg R. 3; Edward Brewer, Fairfield R. 1; Oliver F. Sanders, Gettysburg; J. Arvine Kime, Fairfield R. 2; William D. Stoops, Gettysburg; Arthur K. Sites, Fairfield R. 1; V. L. Harbaugh, Gettysburg; James Kaufman, Gettysburg R. 3; Charles F. Harner, Gettysburg R. 1; Percy W. Smith, Fairfield R. 1; Brook Hull, Fairfield R. D.; Dwight Snyder, Gettysburg R. 2.

Many Recaps

Under List B rules, obsolete tires and new tubes have been granted to the following for the transportation of farm products, employees and highway maintenance work: Franklin B. Helm, Fairfield R. 1, and Samuel Fissel, Orrtanna.

All on the following list have been granted recaps or new tubes or both for passenger tires to be used in the transportation of employees, materials for structural repairs or mechanical maintenance, farm produce, whole sale foods, and a few drug and farm implement salesmen:

Charles W. Sterner, Gettysburg; John D. Teeter, Gettysburg; Milton C. Plank, Gettysburg; Marvin T. Dove, Biglerville R. 2; David Kimble, Gettysburg R. 3; Geo. E. Harman, Biglerville R. 1; Guy E. Raffensperger, Arendtsville; Adams Apple Prod. Corp., Aspers; Bernard Plank, Gettysburg R. 3; C. E. Raffensperger, Biglerville; James H. Wiser, Sr., Gettysburg; J. Edward Weikert, Gettysburg R. 2; Ottavio Conti, Gettysburg R. 4; Walter T. Harman, Biglerville R. 1; Glenn W. Brough, Aspers; Mrs. Howard L. Guise, Biglerville R. 1; William M. Welker, Gettysburg R. 3; Allan F. Trostle, Gettysburg R. 3; Leo L. Redding, Gettysburg R. 2; Lawrence P. Fidler, Gettysburg; Calvin D. Manahan, Gettysburg; Merlene Rightnour, Gettysburg R. 3.

Merle G. Byers, Biglerville R. 2; Ruth Jones, Aspers; Clarence A. Swisher, Gettysburg R. 3; Donald V. Topper, Fairfield R. 2; C. F. Nintle, Iron Springs R. 1; Edgar C. Rubenstein, Gettysburg R. 3; Arthur Starnier, Fairfield R. 2; V. B. Dively, Biglerville; Elmer S. Baker, Orrtanna R. 2; Fred G. Troxell, Fairfield; Roy D. Tate, Biglerville R. 2; Dale Eugene Clark, Bendersville; John J. Flenner, Fairfield R. 2; Oneda M. Hughes, Gettysburg R. 1; Burton Tuckey, Biglerville R. 1; Walter J. Rhodes, Emmitsburg R. 2; George A. Shorb, Fairfield R. 2; Wm. T. Hartman, Fairfield; R. Thomas Adams, Gettysburg.

Additional Permits

Germans Do More Reprisal Shooting

London, Sept. 18 (AP)—A Reuters dispatch from Istanbul today quoted Belgrade reports that the Germans had shot all male inhabitants of four Yugoslav villages and sent the women and children to concentration camps in reprisal for the blowing up of a German military train.

The train, carrying troops and war supplies, was blown up by Serbian irregulars on September 10, it was stated, and many young officers on their way to reinforce Marshal Rommel's Africa Corps were killed.

mometer to keep check on the drying process, you can learn by feeling the food whether or not it is drying satisfactorily. It should be moist to the touch and cooler than the air flowing over it. If it is just about at air temperature and not moist to the touch, it is drying too fast.

Sort Corn Carefully
Properly dried corn is hard, brittle, and semi-transparent. The kernels break cleanly when crushed.

When you take the corn from the drier, sort it over carefully. If there are any kernels that show signs of moisture put them back in the drier. Also if you are not sure that the corn as a whole has dried sufficiently, keep it in the drier a little longer, but with the temperature lowered.

Seal the dried corn immediately in moisture-proof containers and store in a cool, dark, dry place. Examine them once in a while. If you see any signs of moisture, reheat the corn to 165° F. and reseal in the containers.

As a precaution against insects, you can return all foods to the drier just before storing them, or at any other time that seems necessary, and reheat for 10 to 15 minutes at a temperature from 165° to 180° F.

If you do not have means of drying corn by controlled heat you can sun-dry it—providing the weather in your locality permits.

Speed is necessary in putting up corn by the sun-drying method as well as by the controlled heat method. Work quickly from garden to storage.

Corn can be dried on an outdoor shelf, a roof slanting to the south, or racks in sunny windows.

Spread small lots on clean boards, heavy wrapping paper, canvas, cheesecloth, or clean flour or feed sacks held in place by laths. Wire trays or screens, or slat trays covered with thin cloth are even better because they let air circulate under the drying corn as well as over it.

Pack just as you would pack corn dried in a regular drier.

GOOD NEWS FOR CHILDHOOD
Christmas toys will be as brightly
colored as ever next Christmas,
the war notwithstanding.—Washington dispatch.Whatever else the war may stop And Germans steal from people
free,
Still red will be the humming top
And brightly colored drums will be.
Still little children will awake
On Christmas morn to countless
joys,
For even Hitler cannot take
The splendor for their Christmas toys.The Germans may with force and fire
The relics of the past destroy;
May level every temple spire,
But cannot crush a Christmas toy.
In spite of hate and lust for power,
And greed and madness these remain:
The gladness of the Christmas hour,
The brightly painted sled and train.Though ancient glories fall and fade
And what has been will be no
more,
Though armies lie in ambush
And slaughter stains both sea and
shore;
Though people mad world-wide appear,
'Tis good to know let come what may,
In spite of death and dismal fear,
There will be toys for Christmas Day.

Today's Talk

By George Matthew Adams

THE GALLERY OF THE MIND
It is fine that there are scattered,
all over this interesting earth, public galleries of art and beauty that have enriched the ones who created
them all, and at the same time,
opened up a new world to inquiring and anxious minds.I have often walked through these galleries and watched the expression on different people's faces,
to get the reaction. I have noted that the poorer classes seem to be the most appreciative. Perhaps this is because there is aroused a deeper desire to emulate the work of those who have created. Like the hungry
man, who appreciates food so much more than the one who has never known hunger.I wish, however, to talk about another gallery—the Gallery of the Mind. Each of us has stored, and exhibited there, pictures that we have painted and placed there. To look into such a mind—even though
that gallery may be invisible—is
to discover an artist in many a case
—for each of us hangs something upon the walls of our mind!How often we hear the expression: He has a clean mind. How do we know? It's from the talk,
or life, that he leads. In like manner we may say: His mind is filled with beauty, with pictures of everything that he has seen and loved.
It is easy to tell what a man or woman has put into the gallery of his or her mind. You will know in a very short time after a meeting
—even though unconsciously.It costs nothing to build such a gallery, and to put pictures there,
yet no amount of wealth could present to a mind, such treasures as there are displayed!I have sat before men who have painted pictures of the Orient, of the Indies, of Africa, of South America, of the great men and women whom they have met and
known—and what they made me
see is what they had already put into that gallery of their mind—
and were merely exhibiting in their pictures to me.It is important that we see everything that pleases the eye, so that

HEAD OF P.M.F.
FAVORS ACTION

BY WILLIAM G. SMOCK

Harrisburg, Sept. 18 (AP)—Motor club officials express mixed reaction to Governor James' disclosure that he is searching for a way
to limit highway speed to 35-miles
an hour through reckless driving
provisions of the vehicle code.
Aiming at compliance with President Roosevelt's request for a 35-
mile an hour top to conserve gasoline and tires, James said he was looking for "a peace tire tool" to lower the now legal speed limit of 50 miles.New Jersey's governor, Charles Edison, yesterday invoked his wartime emergency powers to fix 35
miles an hour as the maximum speed in his state. Forty miles was
the previous general legal maximum
with 45 permitted in posted zones.

Cites Speed Law

In Pennsylvania, however, it was understood that the attorney general had ruled out issuance of an executive order because of the speed
law.In Washington, Pa., Judge Howard Hughes, president of the Pennsylvania Motor Federation, said the American Automobile association
with which his group is affiliated
"already is on record as approving the Baruch report." Bernard Baruch, member of a committee studying the
rubber situation, has recommended
a 35-mile an hour limit."Any action to support its (the Baruch report's) aims has our heartiest approval," Judge Hughes declared.Lewis W. McIntyre, executive vice president of the Pittsburgh Motor club, said: "I think the Governor is too good a judge to attempt to evade
the constitutional law. The American people are quite willing to comply voluntarily, and this business of
foreign origin."

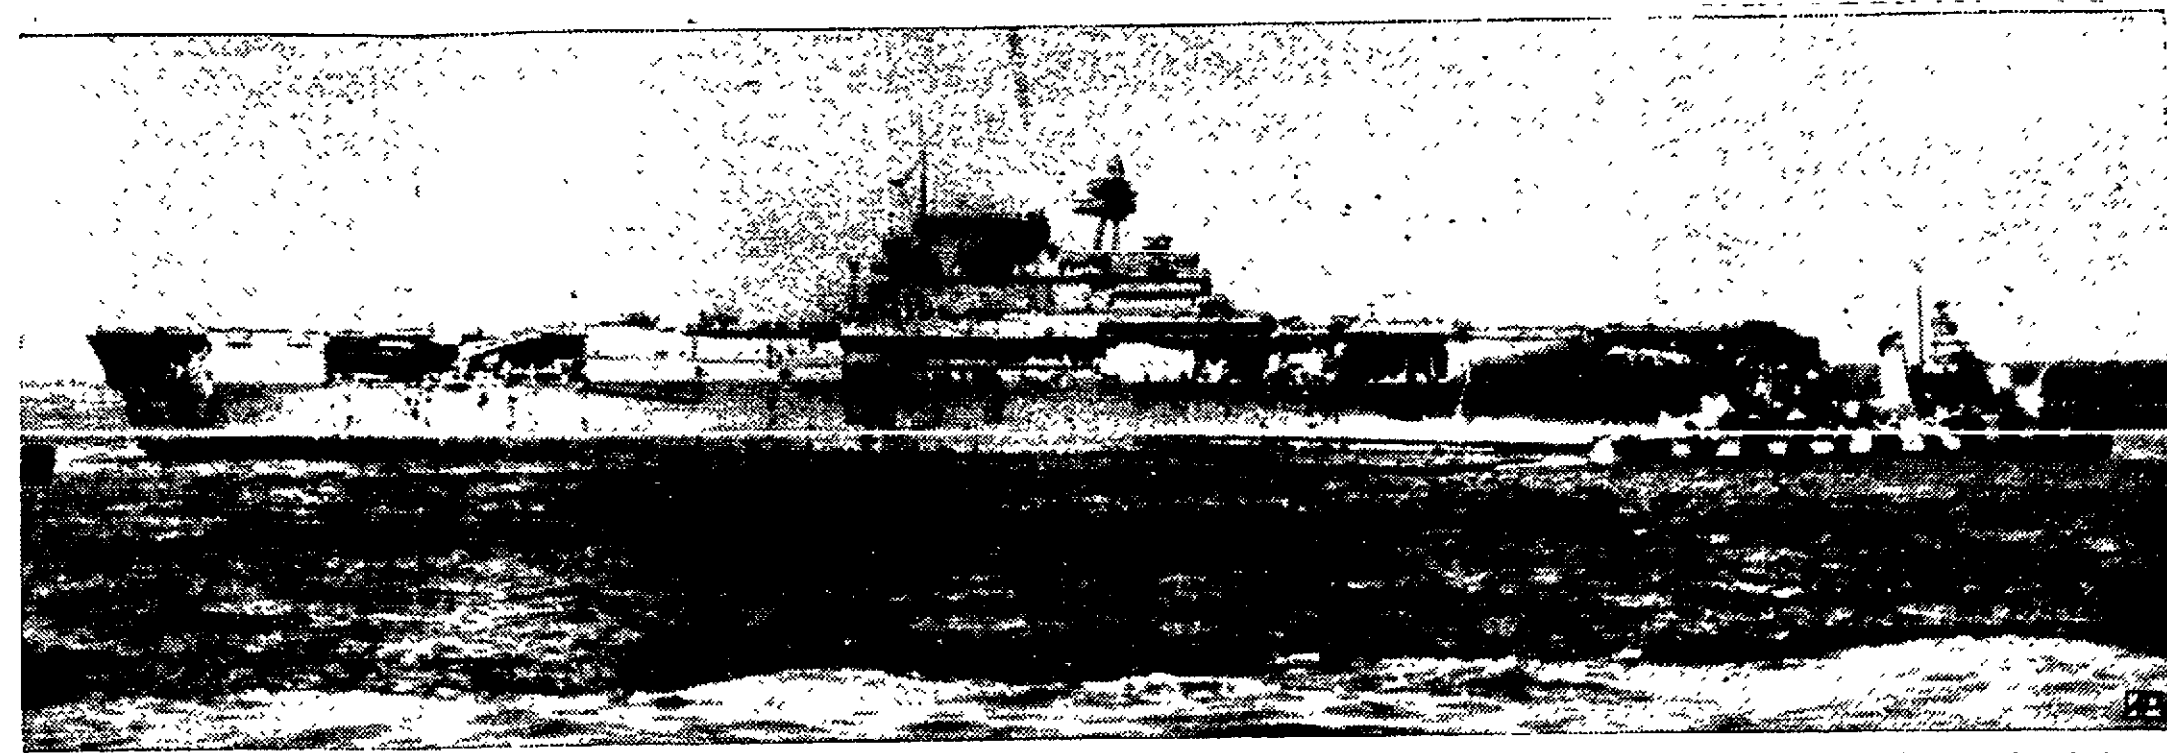

Reckless Driving

In Harrisburg, a motor club official who asked that his name be withheld, said he doubted that a 35-mile limit would be legal. He added:"In many courts in Pennsylvania,
a reckless driving charge has had to be sustained by evidence that someone's life or property was endangered."The state's motor code says reckless drivers include "any person who drives any vehicle upon a highway carelessly and wilfully, or wantonly disregarding the rights or safety of others, or in a manner so
as to endanger any person or property."In Delaware, Governor Walter W.
Bacon has advised drivers to hold their cars to 35 miles an hour. He also asked driving be limited to essential purposes.Must Learn What Uniform Stands ForNew York, Sept. 18 (AP)—Lieut.
Liudmila Pavlichenko, Russian woman sniper credited with killing more than 300 Nazis, thinks that American women are more concerned with the kind of lingerie they wear under their uniforms than with what the uniform stands for."I wear my uniform with honor," she said in an interview. "It has been covered with blood in battle.
It is plain to see that with American women what is important is whether they wear silk underwear under their uniforms. What the uniform stands for they have yet to learn."

2 BROTHERS SENTENCED

West Chester, Pa., Sept. 18 (AP)— Frank Foley, 20, of Phoenixville, began a six- to twelve-year prison term today on a charge of voluntary manslaughter in the death of Harry Stidham, 30, of Phoenixville, last June. Foley's brother, John, 19, was sentenced to one and a half to three years on a charge of aggravated assault and battery. Stidham died after a fight.and son, Robert, of Pittsburgh, are more street, is spending several weeks with her brother, Dr. Amos S. Musselman, Whiting, Indiana.W. E. White, of Tacoma, Washington, is visiting his sister, Mrs. Edward A. Scott, Gettysburg, Route 4.Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Wisler and daughter, Margaret, have returned to their home in Shenandoah, after spending some time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wisler, North Stratton street.Miss Sara Butt, Broadway, has accepted the position of secretary at Highland Hall, Hollidaysburg.Franklin Bigham, of Biglerville, has left for Lexington, Virginia, where he will enter Washington and Lee college.

Crew Abandons Stricken Aircraft Carrier Yorktown

Crewmen of the crippled U.S. aircraft carrier Yorktown, which later went to the bottom of the Pacific, slide down the sides to small boats, which transferred them to rescue vessels, including the destroyer at the right. The Yorktown was damaged in the defeat of Japanese forces which attacked Midway Island.

Flashes Of Life

DOWN TO HIS FIGHTING WEIGHTPhiladelphia (AP)—Jack Stewart, 21, has tried 16 times since Pearl Harbor to enlist in the Navy.
On Dec. 8 he weighed 230.
Yesterday he made it—at 190.
"I've been skating on the streets all night," he said, "and starving."

SQUEAKY FASHIONS

New York (AP)—Who's that squeaking on the floor? It may be noisy, but it's fashionable.So says Mrs. Esther Tuftly, journalist just back from England.
"The war has made squeaky shoes fashionable in London. A poor grade of leather used is responsible—but it's patriotic," she said.

JUST US 'POSSUMS!

Midville, Ga. (AP)—When Mayor
C. Archer Jackson went to his chicken coop to investigate some strange noises, he saw what appeared to be a piece of rope hanging from the coop door. The rope moved. He grabbed it—and found
he had a 'possum by the tail.

MONEY TALKS

Seattle, Wash. (AP)—Harold
Stewart, republican nominee for Congress, tried a new electioneering angle.Listed in his $483 outlay for campaign expenditures was a $67 item for taking boys and girls to the berry fields to relieve a labor shortage.Stewart won without making a single speech.URGES CURB ON RAID WARNINGSHarrisburg, Sept. 18 (AP)—Pennsylvania's local councils of defense were asked today by the state council to cut down "an excessive number" of telephone preliminary warnings of air raid drills.Purpose of such calls, known as yellow and blue warnings, is to alert key civilian leaders and industries so preparations for protective service can be made.These warnings are given when enemy planes are still many miles away or when the time nears for a practice blackout. The red warning—on which the public alarm is sounded—signals start of the blackout practice or, in the event of an actual raid, means the planes are almost overhead."The rank and file of the citizens corps should not be on the yellow or blue list," declared Dr. A. C.
Marts, director of the state council.
"The same applies to groups such as Red Cross and some industries." Dr. Marts said "many recipients of the yellow and blue warnings are failing to observe the confidential nature of the warnings."

Gentlemen:

I should like to take this opportunity to thank you for sending me
the Gettysburg Times. It is a pleasure to be able to keep up with the home news as well as to read the articles on current world events and other news items which appear in your paper.I find Army life is not at all as it had been pictured to me before my induction. In fact it is a very healthy life and not so tough as most outsiders believe.Several weeks ago I became bugler of the anti-tank company. This company is a special unit of the
infantry and is entirely mechanized.
Our duties are also different from the other infantry units.Again let me thank you for your generosity in sending me your paper.

LETTERS TO THE ED

The Gettysburg Times,
Dear Sirs:Johnny Doughboy in Hawaii
We come from the hills of Pennsylvania, from the deep south, from
the middle west and from the sunny shores of California. We, who once worked in offices, on farms and operated filling stations. We have covered a lot of ground since those days.Most of us have seen eight months of foreign service. The Hawaiian
sun has turned us to a bronze color.
The natives gave us a hearty welcome and are getting accustomed
to us being around. They are doing everything to make us feel at home.The boys seem to enjoy The Gettysburg Times as much as I do. I want to thank your staff for the kind service that your paper is rendering to all the boys in the armed forces.Will say "aloha." That means until we meet again.Yours for Victory, PFC DALE E. WAGNERThe Gettysburg Times,
Dear Sirs:I had been attending tank school
here at Fort Knox, Kentucky for eight weeks.Before I came to Fort Knox I was in Camp Bowie, Texas. But after I was at school they transferred me to the 8th Armored Division here.The weather here is nice but we did not have much rain this summer.
It is a pleasure to come in at night and read a home paper which I am pleased with very much.And when I tell the boys here that I get it free they are very surprised and cannot believe it.I thank you very much for the paper. Please send it to my new address.As ever,

Politics

Harrisburg, Sept. 18 (AP)—State
Senator M. Harvey Taylor, Pennsylvania Republican chairman, sees in the Democratic November election platform a "smokescreen" for "another unwholesome raid on state government."At Lock Haven, Adjutant General Edward Martin, Republican gubernatorial nominee, accused the opposing party's platform of "bad faith"
in promising to cut taxes by the specific sum of $100,000. He said
"no living man can foresee conditions
a year or even six months from now." Republicans have promised tax cuts "when and where such reductions are possible."In a statement, Taylor asserted Auditor General F. Clair Ross, Democratic candidate for governor, is standing on a platform the Republican leader described as "a noisy excursion to nowhere." Taylor added Ross' "brazen statement that the election of General Martin
would result in a government of fraud and deceit is the mystical bleating of a man who knows he faces certain defeat."Pittsburgh, Sept. 18 (AP)—Auditor General F. Clair Ross, Democratic candidate for governor, will give
the principal address at a rally
opening his Allegheny county campaign tonight. Other speakers scheduled include Mayor Cornelius
D. Scully of Pittsburgh and Judge
Ralph H. Smith of Pittsburgh, who was beaten by Ross for the gubernatorial nomination.

thony Kashura, 15, fell 60 feet to night after touching a high tension wire. He was killed instantly.The Dutch introduced the principle of enemy port blockades in

HEADS BOARD
ON PRODUCTIONWashington, Sept. 18 (AP)—The task of assembling the jig-saw pieces
of the war production picture for a
twice-a-week scrutiny of armed services' needs fell today to a newly created production committee headed by Charles E. Wilson, president of the General Electric company.The committee was created by the War Production Board last night
and charged, Chairman Donald M.
Nelson said, with "seeing to it that programs and schedules for all phases of our war effort are met."In effect, another WPB source explained, the new unit obtains a position from which the entire war production picture can be surveyed continually to perceive the diversified
needs of the Army, the Air Force,
Navy and the Maritime Commission.Regular Check-Ups
Twice each week, the committee will bring together the military agencies, the Maritime Commission
and WPB for a check-up of war
production. Extra sessions may be called when necessary.Wilson, who will serve on a dollar-a-week basis as vice chairman
of WPB, will have opportunity,
WPB said, to contact responsible
heads of the fighting forces and the Maritime Commission to get up-to-
the minute information on the needs of each agency and the overall supply situation for meeting those needs.Serving with Wilson are Lieut.
Gen. Brehon B. Somervell, commanding general of the Army services of supply; Maj. Gen. Oliver P.
Echols, commanding general of the material command, Army Airforce
Headquarters; Vice Admiral Samuel
M. Robinson, Navy director of material and procurement; and Rear
Admiral Howard L. Vickery, vice chairman of the Maritime Commission.3 Boys Trapped
In Ferris WheelPhiladelphia, Sept. 18 (AP)—Three 14-year-old boys clung to the rim of a ferris wheel car in mid-air for several minutes last night after one side of the seat came loose from its moorings.Attendants maneuvered the car to platform level and the boys, frightened and bruised, were taken to a hospital. Matthew Riley, carnival operator, said they dislodged the seat by swinging in it.Visit our booth in the Grandstand

Chart FDR Wants Autoists To See

This is the chart on tire wear which President Roosevelt wants automobile and truck drivers to see. The President's inscription to Steve Early, White House secretary, says: "STEVE—This is worth putting before the eyes and ears of all car drivers all over the country—Won't the news, photo and radio people do this? I hope so—It would help a lot, Franklin D. Roosevelt." The chart was prepared by the Automobile and Rubber Industries' Tire committee of the Society of Automotive Engineers.

DIEPPE RAID COSLY; MET GERMAN SHIP

Ottawa, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Canadian government said flatly today a "very heavy price" was paid, considering what was gained, by the Allied forces in their raid August 19 on Dieppe.

A 4,000-word review issued by Defense Minister J. L. Ralston, the first comprehensive official statement on the operation, summed up the raid as follows:

"For lessons learned and the advantages gained, the forces, and particularly the land forces, paid a very heavy price."

The Canadian Army furnished all but a small part of the land forces and suffered 3,350 casualties—170 killed, 633 wounded and 2,547 missing—in the costliest Canadian military operation of the war.

Chance Encounter These losses, the statement said, "were probably due in part to the misfortune of a chance encounter with an escorted German tanker in the English channel."

"Such small circumstances are often important in operations of this kind," the statement said, for that mishap marred "complete achievement of surprise."

Out of the convoy, one armed enemy trawler was sunk and another probably was destroyed, but the incident had two results on the later land operation:

1. The British No. 3 commando force which had the task of attacking and destroying a battery at Berneval, six miles east of Dieppe, was unable to complete its assignment.

2. The Royal regiment of Canada was 20 minutes late reaching the beach at Puits, a mile east of Dieppe, and had to land in broad daylight instead of semi-darkness.

"The enemy garrison at this point (Puits) was manning formidable prepared defenses, were well provided with machineguns and mortars and were on the alert," the statement said.

"In consequence, the Royal regiment came under fire before landing and under very intense fire at the moment of touching the beach. Although the troops rushed to the attack through a deadly crossfire with the utmost caution the regiment suffered extremely heavy casualties and only a temporary lodgement was obtained."

Australian Losses Announced As 28,251

Canberra, Australia, Sept. 18 (AP)—Australian war losses include 28,251 missing in action or captured by the enemy, Army Minister Francis Forde announced today.

Of these 7,667 are known to have been captured in the Middle East, mostly in Greece and Crete, while 16,286 were taken prisoner or lost in Malaya.

Forde also announced that Australia married men up to 45 years of age would be called for military service in rear areas as required to release younger men for front line duty.

Forde said that men over 40 would be used only in auxiliary units, such as the army service corps, ordnance corps and headquarters staffs.

Forty-six days have passed since West Virginia's primary election, but the name of the Republican U. S. Senate nominee today remained hidden in a mass of recounts and legal controversies.

Outcome of the contest became more of a question this week with a recount of the August 4 vote in Kanawha county—the state's most populous—narrowing to 83 votes the lead of Chapman Revercomb, of Charleston, over Raymond J. Funkhouser, of Shepherdstown (brother of Roy P. Funkhouser of Gettysburg).

Subject to additional recounts, the tally today gave Revercomb 41,421 to 41,338 for Funkhouser.

The contest may not be decided for weeks, but Secretary of State W. S. O'Brien has said there will be a nominee on Sept. 30.

The man with the most votes that day, O'Brien said, will be certified to ballot commissioners in the 55 counties.

Supporters of Gov. M. M. Neely, former U. S. Senator who holds the Democratic nomination, say they think all the fuss is unnecessary. They point to his primary vote, more than that of the two Republicans combined, and contend he'll win the Nov. 3 election with ease.

DIEPPE RAID COSTLY; MET GERMAN SHIP

Ottawa, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Canadian government said flatly today a "very heavy price" was paid, considering what was gained, by the Allied forces in their raid August 19 on Dieppe.

A 4,000-word review issued by Defense Minister J. L. Ralston, the first comprehensive official statement on the operation, summed up the raid as follows:

"For lessons learned and the advantages gained, the forces, and particularly the land forces, paid a very heavy price."

The Canadian Army furnished all but a small part of the land forces and suffered 3,350 casualties—170 killed, 633 wounded and 2,547 missing—in the costliest Canadian military operation of the war.

Chance Encounter

These losses, the statement said, "were probably due in part to the misfortune of a chance encounter with an escorted German tanker in the English channel."

"Such small circumstances are often important in operations of this kind," the statement said, for that mishap marred "complete achievement of surprise."

Out of the convoy, one armed enemy trawler was sunk and another probably was destroyed, but the incident had two results on the later land operation:

1. The British No. 3 commando force which had the task of attacking and destroying a battery at Berneval, six miles east of Dieppe, was unable to complete its assignment.

2. The Royal regiment of Canada was 20 minutes late reaching the beach at Puits, a mile east of Dieppe, and had to land in broad daylight instead of semi-darkness.

"The enemy garrison at this point (Puits) were manning formidable prepared defenses, were well provided with machineguns and mortars and were on the alert," the statement said.

"In consequence, the Royal regiment came under fire before landing and under very intense fire at the moment of touching the beach. Although the troops rushed to the attack through a deadly crossfire with the utmost caution the regiment suffered extremely heavy casualties and only a temporary lodgement was obtained."

Australian Losses Announced As 28,251

Canberra, Australia, Sept. 18 (AP)—Australian war losses include 28,251 missing in action or captured by the enemy, Army Minister Francis Forde announced today.

Of these 7,667 are known to have been captured in the Middle East, mostly in Greece and Crete, while 16,286 were taken prisoner or lost in Malaya.

Forde also announced that Australia married men up to 45 years of age would be called for military service in rear areas as required to release younger men for front line duty.

Forde said that men over 40 would be used only in auxiliary units, such as the army service corps, ordnance corps and headquarters staffs.

FUNKHOUSER IN RECOUNT FIGHT

Charleston, W. Va., Sept. 18 (AP)—Forty-six days have passed since West Virginia's primary election, but the name of the Republican U. S. Senate nominee today remained hidden in a mass of recounts and legal controversies.

Outcome of the contest became more of a question this week with a recount of the August 4 vote in Kanawha county—the state's most populous—narrowing to 83 votes the lead of Chapman Revercomb, of Charleston, over Raymond J. Funkhouser, of Shepherdstown (brother of Roy P. Funkhouser of Gettysburg).

Subject to additional recounts, the tally today gave Revercomb 41,421 to 41,338 for Funkhouser.

The contest may not be decided for weeks, but Secretary of State W. S. O'Brien has said there will be a nominee on Sept. 20.

The man with the most votes that day, O'Brien said, will be certified to ballot commissioners in the 55 counties.

Supporters of Gov. M. M. Neely, former U. S. Senator who holds the Democratic nomination, say they think all the fuss is unnecessary. They point to his primary vote, more than that of the two Republicans combined, and contend he'll win the Nov. 3 election with ease.

NOW! A REALLY BEAUTIFUL Elastic Stocking

Here's an entirely new departure from the old-fashioned hot, heavy rubber stockings. These new Bauer & Black Latex stockings not only give your legs the proper support, but due to the patented process actually look like regular stockings. Seamless! No wonder doctors and patients alike endorse these cool light-weight stockings. Have your physician prescribe the proper type.

RADIO PROGRAMS

New York, Sept. 18 (Wide World)

The fact that NBC gets the broadcast of the October 12 afternoon fight of Private Billy Conn and Sergt. Joe Louis, solely because it and a cigaret sponsor were ready to pay more for the rights than any one else, means the first break in the MBS exclusivity of big time bouts since that network took them over on June 1 last year.

Previous to that date these affairs, under the promotion of Mike Jacobs, had always been on NBC or the Blu, then a part of NBC. But a new contract took them to MBS, which started its schedule with last year's Conn-Louis fight.

The second meeting of the heavyweights being strictly an Army affair on behalf of the Army Emergency relief, with Jacobs acting only as "guest" promoter, broadcast rights were thrown open to the network with the most money on an auction sale basis.

The NBC bid of $71,200 easily topped the next highest, that of $61,000 by CBS. MBS was reported to have bid $55,000. The Blu offer was said to have been $25,000.

Moscow Protests Bulgarian "Raid"

Moscow, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Soviet Union announced today it had protested to Bulgaria—Axis-allied but neutral in the German-Russian war—against a "Hooligan raid" by Bulgarian police on the Soviet consulate at the Black sea port of Varna.

Tass said the Bulgarian police, both uniformed and in plain clothes, broke into the consulate Sept. 15 with a band of "local peddlers and scribblers for boulevard newspapers," ransacked the building and robbed it of cash.

(A German dispatch broadcast yesterday by the Berlin radio said the Varna consulate had been closed after police raiders found it contained "compromising material such as data on military installations.")

The che is a Chinese musical instrument with 25 strings, played by plucking.

Eighteen per cent of the cacao production in the world comes from Brazil.

Japs Near Port Moresby

Japanese troops, apparently having covered the shaded area of New Guinea southwestward from their original footholds of Gona and Buna, were reported to have pushed through the Owen Stanley mountain range to a point (arrow) within 32 miles of Port Moresby, important United Nations base defending northern Australia.

Rescuing Injured Yorktown Crewman

In a breeches buoy an injured crewman from the crippled aircraft carrier Yorktown is transferred safely to a waiting vessel (background) a few hours before the Yorktown went to the bottom.

British Take Madagascar Ports

In their drive to obtain complete control of the French island of Madagascar, located strategically off the eastern coast of Africa, the British have seized the ports of Ambanja, Majunga and Morondava, and Vichy dispatches said motorized columns were advancing on the inland capital of Tananarive. Previously the British had seized the naval base of Diego Suarez, at the northern tip of the island.

Heiress Wed For Third Time

Lieut. John Milliken, U.S.N.R., and his bride, the former Eleanor Alsop Jefferson Gasparini, New York heiress, smile happily after their marriage in Washington, D. C. The wedding was the third for the bride who was divorced exactly one year ago from her former step-father Romeo Gasparini.
